Question 2 In Indiana In WPA Slaying

Principals in Jackie's Suit

Betty Grable and Jackie Coogan

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur L. Bernstein

While Jackie Coogan, one-time juvenile movie star, charges that his mother and his step-father owe him $4,000,000 he earned in the movies, they deny that any arrangement was made whereby he was to get any of the money he earned. Jackie charges that he could only make $2 bets at the horse races, and had to sit in the cheap seats, while his step-father, Arthur Bernstein, "mingled with the rich" and bet as much as $100 on a race. Jackie, who is married to Betty Grable, says it was money he earned that his step-father bet.

$2,750,000,000 U. S. Works Plan Drafted

Roosevelt, Aids Agree On $1,500,000,000 Fund For Public Works, $1,350,000,000 For WPA Program; Garner Rift Draws Denial.

WASHINGTON—President Roosevelt and his economic advisers worked at top speed today to complete a new recovery and relief program, apparently agreed upon at a lengthy night conference at the White House.

While the conferees did not disclose details, it was indicated the keystone probably would be a proposal to spend $1,500,000,000 on public works as a means of reviving business and industry.

This would be in addition to a $1,250,000,000 relief appropriation, which would let the Works Progress administration carry a peak load of unemployed from next July 1 to Feb. 1, 1939.

Both the public works and relief proposals were expected to be covered in a presidential message to congress tomorrow noon. Its first draft was gone over by the five cabinet members and three other administration officials at last night's three-hour meeting.

Official White House sources had disclosed earlier that the message would discuss not only the state of affairs in this country but also touch on conditions abroad.

Public to Hear Views.

It probably will be followed tomorrow night by a 45-minute "fireside chat" in which the president may explain to the nation his views on the general economic sit-

SHOWERS DUE

Mercury Climbs to 70 Today, But Rain's on Way.

The weatherman was wrong yesterday when he predicted rain for today, but he stuck to his story in today's forecast and predicted showers for tomorrow.

But meanwhile, Mansfield continued to enjoy balmy spring weather. The mercury stood at 70 at noon today, according to Observer Otto Sprunger, two degrees better than yesterday's high.

The low for the past 24 hours was 51, and the average for the past 24 hours was 59.5, Normal, according to Sprunger, is 43 2.

Tonight, says the forecast, will be fair and warmer, but it's scheduled to be cloudy Thursday, with probable showers.

YOUTHS HELD IN VALPARAISO ON SUSPICION

Sheriff and Detective Leave to Quiz Mansfield Youths Hitch-Hiking West.

SAY ONE 'ACTED UNEASY'

Indiana Police Pick Up Pair Who Lived In Neighborhood of Slain Man.

Sheriff E. P. Long and City Detective Lee Remy went to Valparaiso, Ind., today to question two Mansfield boys in connection with the murder of Sherman Reed, 58, who was found beaten to death two weeks ago tonight in his cabin on Seventh avenue.

Informed in a radio message to Mansfield police late yesterday that the youths, both 19, were being held in the Indiana city, Long and Remy left early today to question them.

Hinges on Questioning.

There was nothing in the radio message to indicate the pair was held on a specific charge, and Deputy Sheriff Frank Robinson said today that no attempt would be made to return the boys here unless questioning reveals that they have information about the Reed murder.

Valparaiso police said in their radio dispatch that the youths were taken into custody yesterday because one of them had "acted uneasy." The pair left Mansfield last Saturday on a hitch-hiking trip west, authorities learned from the youths' parents.

Both youths live in the neighborhood in which Reed was murdered, but county authorities had not been able to establish today whether the pair had associated with Reed or even knew him.

Check Every Clue.

"The trip to Indiana may mean nothing, but we intend to investigate every clue that may lead to information regarding the murder," Robinson said.

The body of Reed, a WPA worker and the father of 10 children, was found the night of March 30 in the kitchen of his three-room cabin just east of the city limits. Apparently beaten over the head with a blunt instrument, he had been dead several hours when the body was found by Charles Burger, a neighbor.

Withdraws W. Fourth Aid Offer

Jaster Tells City State Has No Money; Urges WPA Project.

The state today withdrew from its agreement to furnish 50 per cent of the cost of resurfacing West Fourth street.

In a letter to Mayor Claude M. Hunter today, State Highway Director John J. Jaster said that finances would not permit the state to participate in the improvement this year and suggested that the project be outlined to WPA officials.

Estimates on the improvement, calling for the resurfacing of the roadway from North Main street to Ausdale avenue at the total cost of $86,000, were filed with the state several weeks ago by A. L. Ault of Ashland, state highway district engineer.

Highway officials at that time said that the state would go along on a 50-50 basis for improving state route 30-N which is also a federal route, a part of the Lincoln highway.

Federal Funds Cut.

Associated Press dispatches from Columbus quoted Jaster as saying that a sharp reduction in U. S. highway appropriations for the fiscal year starting July 1 would curtail the federal road program in Ohio this summer.

Curtailment of the federal road program was indicated in Washington yesterday when the house appropriations committee approved only $100,000,000 for highways during the coming year as compared with the usual amount of $238,000,000 authorized by congress in recent years.

As the result, Associated Press dispatches said, the committee was called together today to debate increasing the fund.

In the meantime Mayor Hunter said he planned to call a meeting of city engineers, council's street committee and Boyd Weirman, state highway resident engineer, for the purpose of considering the paving work as a WPA project.

He said he believed that the cost of the improvement under WPA would run the city considerably more than if the project

HORNER WINS

Illinois Governor Scores as Lucas Sweeps Senate Race.

CHICAGO—(INS)—Gov. Henry Horner today won a sweeping victory in the struggle for control of the state Democratic party when his candidate for U. S. senator, Scott W. Lucas, took the lead from U. S. District Attorney Michael L. Igoe, supported by the Chicago city hall machine.

Returns from 6,551 of the state's 8,286 precincts gave Lucas 602,947 votes against 602,377 for Igoe.

The result of the primary was considered a stunning blow to the organization headed by Mayor Edward Kelly of Chicago and National Committeeman Patrick Nash, long the dominant power in Illinois Democratic circles.

Harley E. Smith, 37, of 29 Fair street, died in General hospital today of injuries and burns suffered in a gas explosion at the Mansfield Asphalt company on April 1.

Smith suffered a fracture of the spine which paralyzed the lower part of his body.

He was thrown from the top of a steel tank car and hurled 12 feet by the explosion, which was believed to have been caused by the accumulation of gas inside of the car.

Inspecting Car.

The blast occurred early in the morning at the company's plant at 31 Orange street. Smith is believed to have been making an inspection of the contents of the car when the explosion occurred. He was alone at the time.

Employed by the company for 10 years, Smith is survived by his wife, Edith; two sons, Raymond and Donald; two daughters, Viola and Martha; two brothers, Clayton of Shiloh and Lawrence of Mansfield, and a sister, Mrs. Hallie Jewell of Ganges. He was a member of the Gospel Center church.

The body was removed to the Wappner funeral home. Funeral arrangements are incomplete.

CHILD, 2, CAUSES BABY'S DEATH

Puts Pillow Over Brother's Face To 'Keep Him Warm.'

NEW YORK—(AP)—Only two and a half years old, Vincent Salerno, jr., is too young to realize he caused the death of his baby brother.

He placed a pillow over the face of seven-months-old Donald Salerno yesterday to "keep him warm."

"He was cold," Vincent explained to his father, a WPA worker who came home to find Donald smothered.

Police listed the case as an accident.

Reimlinger left a note in his automobile to a son which said he was afraid he would be blamed for Mrs. Reimlinger's fall down the cellar stairs "because of all the trouble we had."

LEWIS ACTS

Names Garment Union Head to Housing Post; Avoids Tiff.

WASHINGTON —(UP)— Chairman John L. Lewis ended reports of serious dissention within his committee for Industrial Organization today by appointment of David Dubinsky, president of the international Ladies' Garment Workers' union, as chairman of a permanent CIO committee to study housing.

The announcement followed widespread reports that Dubinsky was ready to lead his 235,000 members into the American Federation of Labor because of plans to establish the CIO on a permanent basis.

The rumors persisted until Dubinsky telegraphed Julius Hochman, union vice president and his representative at the CIO conference here that the ILGWU officials "do not contemplate withdrawing from the CIO."

NEW YORK—(UP)—Strike or no strike, "the greatest show on earth" must go on—and it did.

U. S. DESTROYERS LEAVE TO PROBE MYSTERY FLEET

22 Unidentified Warships Reported Off Philippines Causing Concern.

(By International News Service)

MANILA, P. I.—Two destroyers from the United States Asiatic fleet, now maneuvering in the China Sea, have been ordered to proceed under forced draft to the Gulf of Davao in the Philippine Islands to investigate the reported presence there of 22 unidentified naval destroyers, it was learned here today.

The two destroyers were ordered sent on the mission by Admiral Harry E. Yarnell, commander-in-chief of the Asiatic fleet.

Reports reached here from the port of Davao that Philippine natives fear an invasion from the mystery fleet, reported to be either Japanese or Dutch destroyers.

Display No Flags.

The vessels, first spotted Saturday, 60 miles at sea, have displayed no flags and have refused to answer radio requests for their identification.

Customs officials at Davao reported that the flotilla of destroyers was at present anchored in the Gulf of Davao, about 60 miles from the port, and includes one large ship, presumably a tender.

Army officials have begun an investigation of the craft, and a group of Philippine army officers left Manila yesterday for Mindanao to determine whether or not the vessels are still in the vicinity.

The vessels, it was reported refused to answer radio signals from the inter-island ship Rizal, which asked for their identification.

United States army officials also were interested in the investigation, and pointed out that six American destroyers were supposed to be cruising in these waters, although it was believed impossible they could have reached the Gulf of Davao by Saturday or Sunday.

JUDGES ORDER CHAIR DEATH FOR MRS. HAHN

Appeal to U. S. Court, Mercy From Davey Only Hopes Left For Poison Slayer.

RULES OUT APPEAL CASE

State Tribunal Says Petition Fails to Include Sufficient Grounds for Action.

COLUMBUS — (AP)—The Ohio supreme court today dismissed the appeal of Anna Marie Hahn, convicted Cincinnati poison slayer, and sentenced her to die in the Ohio penitentiary electric chair, ruling there was no constitutional question involved in her appeal.

Mrs. Hahn had been scheduled to die March 10, but her appeal to the supreme court automatically stayed the electrocution date.

Convicted In Death.

The blond, 31-year-old mother was convicted of fatally poisoning Jacob Wagner. A jury of 11 women and one man returned the verdict last Nov. 6, three months after her arrest.

She also is under indictment on a charge of murder by poison in the death of George Geelman, 67-year-old Cincinnati German.

Principal point of a 10-point appeal made by Mrs. Hahn's attorneys was that Trial Judge Charles Bell erred in permitting Prosecutor Dudley Miller Outcalt to introduce evidence pertaining to deaths of others among her aged men acquaintances.

Outcalt maintained the evidence was necessary to show she benefited from the men's estates.

The decision of the court was unanimous except for the fact that Judge Arthur Day did not participate.

"I had a feeling the court would rule against me. I guess it couldn't be helped," Mrs. Hahn remarked soberly when Warden James C. Woodard and the prison priest, Father J. A. Sullivan, informed her of the decision. She asked the warden to make certain her attorneys knew of the ruling, and

Daily Pie Simple, Lecturer Tells Food School Audience

The aroma of cooking foods and baked goods rolled out over the audience at the second session of The News-Journal cooking school this morning at the Ohio theater, causing hundreds of housewives to sniff in anticipation. Here, they decided, was something that smelled mighty good and they'd try it out at home to see if the taste was up to the aroma.

Pie crust dough, in case you've never tried it, improves with ago and is much better after it has stood in the refrigerator three weeks than it is the day it is mixed. A roll of it in the refrigerator makes a daily pie a simple matter—according to Miss Ruth Chambers, cookery expert who is directing The News-Journal's annual Food Fashion Revue.

These and other helpful hints were the things Miss Chambers told her audience this morning—an audience even larger than that which attended the opening session yesterday.

While the mothers attended the school, undisturbed, their youngsters played in the lower foyer of the theater under the supervision of girl ushers.

Among the inexpensive and practical meat dishes which Miss Chambers demonstrated this morning was a crescent liver roll, baked with highly seasoned chopped liver and rich biscuit dough. Banana scallops and French fried cauliflower were demonstrated in a way that any housewife could follow.

Women appeared at the theater as early as 8:30 this morning, standing in line until the doors

Triple-Threat Wife Hazards Getting Him Down, Says Laurel

(By United Press)

HOLLYWOOD — Stan Laurel cast an unappreciative eye at wife number one in court today, glanced unhappily in the direction of number two, worried about the painful predicament of number three and said his triple-threat husband hazards were getting him down.

Hardly had number one sued him for far more money than a congressman earns when number three, who held his hand all afternoon in court yesterday, was arrested in Beverly Hills and held in $500 bail on hit-and-run misdemeanor charges. She smashed three of her ribs, and as many automobiles.

Laurel took her to a hospital and prepared for resumption of his marital troubles, which he said were making a pauper of him, even though he earns $160,000 a year.

It was his duty to explain to the judge how too many wives can make a salary twice as big as President Roosevelt's seem like shoeshine money. The sad-faced Laurel, said the main trouble was that he not only had to give his wives alimony, but that he also had to pay their income taxes.

Laurel was hauled into court by Mrs. Lois N. Laurel, number one. He already had made a settlement with Mrs. Virginia Ruth Laurel, number two, and he had on his arm Mrs. Vera Shulalova Laurel, number three.

Wife number one told Judge Leslie E. Still that she needed $1,355 a month to keep their 10-year-old daughter, Lois, in the style to which she was accustomed.

Just what occasioned the present vogue for pink does not seem to be clear, but pink, especially as an accessory color, certainly is very popular, This wool street costume is done in casual manner and combines the Degas color scheme of pink on black. A slender, high-necked frock in sheer black wool is topped by a wrist-length jacket in pastel pink. A diagonal row of notched pockets on the right hand side of the frock sets a trimming motif which is carried out on the left hand side of the jacket. $100,000 HORSE RACE IS SET FOR BELMONT PARK MAY 30

By DAVIS J. WALSH

NEW YORK—(INS)—They gave it the old Finnegan yesterday and called the $100,000 horse race between War Admiral and Seabiscuit "on again," this time for May 30 at Belmont Park, instead of late September. And this time it apparently is going to stay on.

Samuel D. Riddle, owner of the Admiral, accepted the altered conditions as soon as the Westchester Racing association's directors unanimously voted in a new set of terms yesterday. Late last night, the Biscuit's proprietor, C. E. Howard, confirmed the arrangement, according to the statement of Racing Commissioner Herbert Bayard Swope, in a telephone conversation from California.

The new terms, exacted by the association as the instrument under which it proposed to set aside the purse—which some of the directors didn't want to do—are as follows:

The date, May 30, or the following day, if racing conditions are such as not to provide a fair test. (The Biscuit needs a dry track). The distance, one and one quarter miles. The field, War Admiral, Seabiscuit and a third entry, in order to circumvent local regulations. The weights, 126 pounds.

The third entry, conceivably, could be Stagehand, provided the colt wins the Kentucky Derby next month. Nothing was said about Stagehand yesterday and it seems almost inconceivable that anything ever will. As a three-year-old, his scale weight would be only 108 pounds in May, whereas the scale calls for the other two to do 127 that month.

The last time the Biscuit tried to do anything like that, he gave Stagehand 30 pounds in the Santa Anita Handicap and Stagehand gave him a beating by one nose. It seemed more tenable, therefore, that as a third entry they'd nominate something or other named Bag O'Bones, by Rag Picker, out of Colic—and then give him the heave-o the morning of the race.

WHEN first apprised of the change in dates, Mr. Howard seemed doubtful that he could accept the race, inasmuch as he had planned to keep his horse racing on the coast all summer and not bring him east until the autumn. Later, under the spell of Swope's oratory, he accepted the match, with only one stipulation, beyond that of a fast track

This was that "Red" Pollard be physically able to ride the Biscuit in the race. The jockey, currently on the ground with a broken shoulder, rode the horse in all of his winning races but was on the injured list when the Biscuit was beaten in nose finishes in each of his last two races in California.

Pollard's injury will be x-rayed today, according to Swope, who added that Seabiscuit's owner had expressed every confidence that the examination would be favorable.

In consequence, with a trifle more than six weeks to go until race day, instead of the original six months, there seemed only the vague possibility that anything now could interfere with the greatest horse race in American history—not even the singular scruples of Mr. C. V. (Sonny) Whitney, who is afraid that in time horse racing will become commercialized.

Looks to Solters For Tribe Punch

Vitt Shows Indians to Home Folk First Time Saturday Against Giants.

FRANKFORT, Ky.—(AP)—Cleveland's clubbing ball club, jumping hither and yon for those inveterate spring tiffs with the New York Giants, trundle their 1938 wares out before the home folks Saturday.

The intra-league rivals wind up their "grapefruit league" battles at Cleveland Saturday and Sunday, after playing here today and then at Charleston and Weirton, W. Va.

Solters Is "Punch."

Oscar Vitt, the Indians' talkative manager who may break out as a full-fledged Indian chief at Tuesday's American league opener, proclaimed today that he was depending on Julius Solters for some needed "punch in the pinch."

Vitt

The swarthy left fielder isn't much on defense except for a great throwing arm, but is close to being Vitt's favorite ball player. "You can almost see that fellow's muscles tighten for a superhuman effort when he steps to that plate with men on bases," said Vitt.

Solters, a holdout, reported only a few days ago. The first time he batted, in a pinch-hitting role, he smashed a drive to the fence which was an out only because of a sensational one-handed catch. He brought in three runs Sunday. The next day he clubbed in five runs, the last three on a ninth-inning homer which won the game. Yesterday, however, he was held hitless as the Tribe defeated the Giants, 6 to 2, at Owensboro, Ky.

Vitt said Johnny Allen was ready to pitch the opener at Cleveland against the St. Louis Browns Tuesday. "I don't see how Allen ever loses a game," exclaimed Vitt.

To Become Chief.

He didn't say whether he would accept an offer of an all-Indian band, which will bang out some tunes at the opener, to induct Vitt into its tribe as a chief, but C. C. Slapnicka, Indians' general manager, said he was willing that Vitt go through the ceremony.

Harder Wins Place Among 'Big Four.'

MEL HARDER, veteran right-handed star of the Cleveland Indians' mound staff, today assured himself of at least a temporary place among Manager Oscar Vitt's "big four" hurlers.

Harder's performance yesterday at Owensboro stood out as one of the best exhibitions any Cleveland pitcher has given during the spring drills

Harder worked seven innings against the National league champions as the Indians hung up a 6-2 victory. He did not permit a run and gave up only six hits. Harder allowed only two Giant runners to advance beyond first base. The cagey veteran walked Joe Moore, the first man to face him, but thereafter had perfect control and did not issue another base on balls

The two runs the Giants made were at the expense of Al Milnar, husky southpaw, and came in the eighth inning.

Hal Schumacher went the route for New York and was pounded for 12 hits. Lyn Lary and Sammy Hale were the Tribe's batting stars. Each secured three hits. Hale's safeties included a triple and a home run. He batted in four of Cleveland's runs.

Cleveland Central Enters 44 Athletes In Relays

Upstate School Expected to Be Serious Contender For Title Week From Saturday.

CLEVELAND CENTRAL is going to make a determined bid for the championship of the 12th renewal of the Mansfield Relays to be held at Stadium field next Saturday.

Central finished in a tie for third place in the final scoring with Erie Pa., Strong Vincent last year and returns next week with the largest squad ever entered by a school in the event.

The Cleveland school will bring a squad of 44 athletes to Mansfield for the big track and field carnival.

A Serious Threat.

If Central can qualify only part of the squad for the finals, it is certain to finish well up in the points, if not on top of the heap

Central finished fifth in the recent indoor meet in Cleveland, but it is reported that the school will show considerable more strength in the outdoors.

It took Cathedral Latin into camp in the only outdoor dual meet in which it has competed this spring.

The Central lineup includes a number of veterans. Heading the list of stars is Jack Smith who set a new record to win the '440' in the indoor carnival. He will also compete in the furlong.

In addition to Central Director Harry Mehock today announced the receipt of entries from Maple Heights of Bedford, Mentor and Roosevelt of Wyandotte Mich

Won Suburban Title.

Maple Heights won its suburban A championship in the Cleveland indoor classic and is expected to be represented by one of the classiest pole relay teams in the Relays this year. The Bedford quartet stepped off a new record of 3:32 in the indoor mile.

The Relays this year to date consists of 14 teams and 288 athletes.

Home Talent To Appear In J.A.C. Tourney

Friendly House Enters Amateurs in Meet.

By CHARLES MARTIN

MANSFIELD will have its share of boxing talent in the A. A. U. boxing tournament opening at the Y. M. C. A. a week from tonight.

Nine youthful, simon-pure leather pushers, over half of them carrying the Friendly House banner, are planning to participate in the tourney, sponsored by the Junior Association of Commerce, and running through April 20 and 21, with the finals on tap April 26.

Among the group are at least two who are expected to go a long way in their respective divisions. They are Beauford Glover and Paul Carbetta. Another lad who may come into his own is "Curley" Miller, former Y. M. C. A. featherweight champion, protege of Jimmy Wilde. Glover and Carbetta are from the F. H. stables.

Glover Undefeated.

Glover, flashy lightweight, who has never tasted defeat since he made his debut, has been inactive since he appeared on the Friendly House card this winter, because of an injured hand, but will be in first class shape for the tourney. He won the Y. M. C. A. amateur lightweight championship last year.

Carbetta established himself as one of the outstanding flyweights in this section recently by winning the Galion N. C. O. and Marion A. A. U. championships.

Miller has appeared on several cards recently, but has had the misfortune of meeting Ernie McKinley, outstanding Ashland featherweight, in each bout. The boys have waged a couple of thrilling battles, but McKinley's ring experience has given him the edge.

Other Friendly House boys who will appear on the card are Mike Gaubatz, 122, brother of Dick Baer, Alonzo Lindsay, 118, Tommy Clemens, 110, Kid Carmel, 128, and Jim Dewberry, 110.

Tommy Morgan, 125, and Dean Chatlain, 147, are the other Mansfield youths who have filed entries.

Morgan In Comeback.

Morgan, former Y. M. C. A. bantamweight champion, has been out of the ring the past year and is attempting a comeback. Chatlain has had no previous boxing experience, having entered the tournament on a dare.

It was announced today that all boxers who fight on the program must have A. A. U. cards. These may be secured in Mansfield from Mike Wentz at the Friendly House and Jimmy Wilde at the Y. M. C. A. Any Mansfield boys who wish to enter the tourney may receive boxing lessons free at both places. Johnny Merkel, "Peanuts" Musille and John Eichner are the trainers at the F. H.

Alabama Kid Heads Armory Card Tonight

Meets Bud Creed, Milwaukee, In 10-Round Bout on First Show of Year.

By OSCAR RUHL
News-Journal Sports Editor.

THE old Mansfield fight favorite they call Alabama Kid comes back to town tonight to help the Quality Athletic club revive interest in what was once a thriving sport in these parts—namely, professional boxing.

One of the more popular out-of-town scrappers to unleash his wares in a Mansfield ring, the hard-hittin' middleweight from Alabam' meets Bud Creed of Milwaukee in the 10-round bout headlining the debut card of the Quality Athletic club, heretofore interested only in the promotion of wrestling.

Opens Trial Series.

This show is the first of a trial series, and if Mansfield fans give any encouragement at the gate tonight, Promotor Tim Nolan plans to alternate fight parties with his grappling presentations in the future.

The Alabama Kid, quite generally recognized as the colored middleweight champion of the world, was once a frequent participant in the leather trading business in this vicinity, but lately has confined his activities to the far west.

He only recently returned from a successful tour of the western states, and is again stopping at familiar points to show that he's still head man around this section.

His last appearance was made in a Mansfield ring about four years ago when he disposed of a heavier Harry English.

Just how much trouble the Kid is going to run into with Creed remains to be seen. His opponent comes well recommended.

Creed has fought many of the better glove swingers, and, according to his newspaper clippings, has come out in front more than his share of occasions.

Delaney On Card.

The bout will be supported by a trio of six-round affairs. Jack Delaney, a slugging middleweight of Mansfield, stages a comeback in one of the six-rounders against Bob Smith of Lima, who replaces Mickey Harris on the card.

In the other prelims, Al Gatchell, Cleveland heavyweight, engages Tom Woodward, former Mt. Vernon high grid star, and Tiger Wills of Cincinnati meets Paul Rochell of Mt. Vernon.

Clarence Miller of Newark will be the third man in the ring.

Grid Sport Liability To Small Colleges.

COLUMBUS —(AP)— Football revenue may "pay the freight" for the rest of the athletic program in large universities but a survey by an Ohio educator indicated today that the gridiron sport was a financial liability to most small colleges.

Ernest H. Wilkins, president of Oberlin college, said that his recently completed survey of 22 widely separated U. S. colleges showed that only two of them realized a profit from last year's football campaigns—one with a net of $1,492 and the other a $79 balance.

Rolls Perfect Game In A.B.C.

Conneaut, O., Kegler Hits Big Game In Singles.

CHICAGO—(AP)—The name of Mike Blazek, of Conneaut, O., was listed today in the bowlers' hall of fame. He was the fifth man to roll a perfect 300 game in the 38 year history of the American Bowling Congress.

Blazek, who has been bowling for 20 years, struck 12 times yesterday in the final game of his individual series for high game of the pin classic at the Coliseum. He started his singles event with mediocre games of 171 and 145.

The Ohioan has rolled four 300 games in match opposition, two of them in succession.

Vogel's Windy City league team took second place last night in the five-man event with a smashing 3097 total. Soper Bros., of Cicero, Ill., went into third place with 3096.

Official checking of Leonard Dettloff's tournament record removed one pin from the Detroiter's total and dropped him from 1938 to 1937 in the all-events. This moved Cliff Robling of Columbus, O., from sixth to a tie with Dettloff for fifth position.

Bowl Against Record Scores

Mansfield Keglers Face Job to Unseat I-C Leaders.

Mansfield bowlers have a big job cut out for them this weekend when they roll on the closing shifts of the Inter-City tournament at Alliance.

They will be shooting against record scores in three departments, and a near-record total in another.

The five-man division is led by a record 3281 hoisted by the New Way Nite club of Alliance. Alex Graham, Dover veteran, dominates the singles and all-events standings with respective record marks of 721 and 1998.

Graham and his partner, Maurer, rolled 1342 in the two-man event last week for the lead, and this count is only six pins short of the record set by Kehrer and Edelstein of Bucyrus in the Mansfield tournament three years ago.

The only other record which has withstood the spectacular Alliance scoring is the single high game of 290 set by Dale Cleckner of Mansfield three years ago.

The Mansfield teams to bowl at 4 p. m. Saturday are the South Plant Hot Mills, Liederkranz, Willis Billiards, Mansfield Printers, Heilman Canfield Oils, Metcalf Pure Oils and Miller Oldsmobiles. The Q Billiards, Mansfield Rugs and Roma Lunches will roll Sunday. The standings follow:

A SQUAD of bowlers of the Ohio Brass league today held the five-man championship of the city.

The Maintenance club cinched the championship as rolling was completed in the five-man division of the City bowling tournament at the Meder alleys last night.

Moose Roll 3017.

The O. B. representatives crashed through with a 3101 handicap total a week ago, and the only club to endanger their position last night was the Moose No. 2 team, which spanked out a 3017, with the aid of a 36-pin handicap.

The Lodgemen put together games of 991, 962 and 1028 as they rolled into third place, 41 pins behind the second-place Lumbermen's Mutuals.

Farrell Hipp cracked out a 632 to lead the Moose, while Leland Stock contributed a 614, which he finished with a 244.

Doug Miller's Oldsmobiles finished just outside of the top five with 2941. The Automen got off to a good start with an even 1000, but dropped to 926 in their middle game.

Brig Young paced the Oldsmobiles with a 642, which included a 228 and 222, and John Leppo contributed a 606.

Changes were numerous last night in the minor events, which will be completed Friday night.

Carrying a handicap of 216 pins, Seltzer and K. Swank gained the lead in the doubles with a smart 1322. Doolittle and Vogel, with a 132 handicap, stepped into third place with a 1259 count, 17 sticks behind the second place McPhern-Forrest duo.

Other big two-man scores were shot by Kozik-Neidehammer, 1233; Willis-Dunn, 1224, and Young-Robertson, 1200.

Gains Singles Lead.

Scoring a 697 with an 84-pin handicap, N. Swank jumped into first place in the singles. Barney Banks' 675 held second place.

Art Hilborn hoisted himself into third place with a 674 which he collected without a handicap. Stock, also rolling without a handicap, came through with a 670 to reach fifth place.

CHAPTER XI

And he would want to know what she was doing down here in her dressing-gown. Sylvia, whose stupidity had driven Gay to desperation, was not at all stupid about this. She ceased in fact to be Sylvia Colesborough at all. She was immemorial woman, and there, on the other side of the open door, was immemorial man, a creature to be deceived. If she had been capable of thought at all, she would have thought, "I must hide," and have remained cowering behind her curtain. But she did not think. She ran out into the middle of the dining-room and called in a plaintive voice.

"Oh, Francis, is that you? Do put on the light. I can't see where I am."

The light went on. Francis Colesborough stood by the door with his hand on the switch. At this moment he looked his age. He had fair hair with a sprinkle of grey in it, grey eyes, hard and intent, a certain elegance of bearing. His skin lacked color. The light which he had turned on picked out the lines of fatigue about eyes and mouth. He said with a kind of angry impatience:

"What are you doing, Sylvia?"

She smiled that lovely vague smile of hers.

"I wanted a biscuit—I thought I could find them in the dark. And then I heard you and went to look out of the window.

His hand dropped rather heavily from the switch.

"You weren't expecting me?"

She had found the biscuits. She picked out two or three and turned with them in her hand.

"Did you say you were coming back?"

"No, I didn't."

She began to tell him about the Westgates' party.

"Are you glad to see me?" he said abruptly in the middle of a sentence.

Sylvia trailed towards him in her lovely white wrap, offered a cheek to be kissed, yawned a little, and said, "But I'm always pleased to see you, darling."

"It was in my pocket," said Algy Somers.

Montagu Lushington looked at the creased envelope which had come out of Algy's tail pocket the night before. He said nothing. Algy went on.

"It's that envelope—there isn't any doubt about it at all. I didn't read the address, as I told you. I didn't know that I had looked at the envelope, but as soon as I saw that blot I knew I had seen it before, and where."

Montagu Lushington looked up. "The envelope that was taken out of my despatch-case."

"Yes, sir."

"The empty envelope." There was a little weight on the second word.

Algy's face was set and grave. He said, "Yes, sir," again.

"And planted on you—put into your tail-pocket—" The slow, almost meditative tone quickened suddenly. "With what object?"

Algy's face did not change, nor his voice. He said, "I've thought about that. It would support the theory that the papers were taken before you went down to Wellings."

"If it had been found on you—yes."

"It was intended to be found I found it too soon, that's all. Orperhaps I was meant to find it. It may have been part of an attempt to stampede me—I don't know. There's a lot of talk going on. I was at the Westgates' last night. All Linda's crowd has got the story."

Mr. Lushington wished — profanely—that someone would tell him how people got hold of these things.

"Well, they do," said Algy. "The men tell their wives, and the women tell each other — everyone adds a little. But they all know that important papers are missing, and most of them are half way to believing I took them. Somewhere about day after tomorrow they'll be quite sure I did. Then it's finish for me."

Montagu Lushington looked down at the envelope again.

"I don't see why this was planted on you."

Algy had one of those flashes. He said, "Has no one suggested having my rooms searched?"

"I should not have entertained such a suggestion," Lushington said.

"But it was made?" Algy's tone warmed a little.

"I think that is a question which should not be put."

"But I do put it, sir. I don't see how I'm to meet this thing unless I know what I'm up against."

"Very well, then, you may take it that the suggestion has been made."

"By whom?" Algy was pale.

Montagu Lushington said abruptly, "It was Carstairs. That makes nonsense of your suggestion that the envelope was planted in your pocket so that it might be found there, but the person who planted the envelope might have had knowledge of the line which Carstairs was taking — there is that."

"I'm not making any suggestion about Mr. Carstairs—he's out of the question. But someone thought, or hoped, that there would be a search, and was willing to take a risk in order to make sure that something would be found. If you had authorized the search, and that envelope had been found in my coat, no one in the world would have believed that I was innocent. It would have been absolutely damning."

Montagu Lushington said, "Yes." Then, after a pause, "When do you think it was planted, and how?"

"Well, I found it last night when I was dressing to go to the Westgates', and it wasn't there the day before. At least, it wasn't there up till four o'clock, because Barker — that's the man at my rooms—had the suit to press and lay out. I've asked him, and he's quite sure that there was nothing in any of the pockets. He put the things out for me somewhere about four o'clock, and then he and his wife went out. They go over to see her mother, and if I'm dining out they don't hurry back. I meant to dine out, but Mr. Carstairs gave me the Babington stuff to type, and when I saw I wasn't going to get done in time, I rang up and said I couldn't get round until after dinner—and I didn't get done until a quarter to nine. The point is that I had to rush back and dress in a hurry. If the envelope had been in my pocket then, I don't think I should have noticed it."

"You mean someone might have got into your rooms between four and nine and have planted it then?"

"Yes, sir."

Montagu Lushington looked at him keenly. "Very anxious to prove that it wasn't so likely to have been done later, aren't you, Algy?"

The blood came into Algy's face. He said, "No, sir."

"Oh, not unnaturally. Now I think we'll have the rest of your evening."

Algy stiffened a little

"I called for a girl, and we went to the Ducks and Drakes."

"Her name?"

"Gay Hardwicke."

Montagu frowned slightly. "Hardwicke—there's a Miss Agatha Hardwicke who bombards me and the papers with letters on the subject of capital punishment. She's secretary of some society or other. Rather a terrifying female."

"An aunt," said Algy gloomily. "Gay is staying with her. They're cousins of Lady Colesborough's."

He got another keen look.

"Known this young lady long?"

"About three months, sir"

"Well, you took her to the Ducks and Drakes Were you alone, or in a party?"

"We went there alone, but we joined up with the Wessex-Gardners."

What!" A disturbed looked crossed Montagu Lushington's face. "I should like to know who you danced with."

"Poppy Wessex-Gardner, Sylvia Colesborough, and Gay — mostly with Gay."

"Could one of them have put the envelope in your pocket?"

"Not while we were dancing"

"But you sat out?"

"We sat at a table and had drinks, and things to eat."

"Yes, it could have been done then. You agree?"

"I suppose so."

"Who were the men of the party?"

"Wessex-Gardner and his brother. His brother's wife was there too And a man called Danvers —I don't know anything about him—and Brewster"

"I didn't know Brewster went to night clubs."

Algy laughed, not very cheerfully "He doesn't Mrs Wessex-Gardner dragged him, and he's fallen for Sylvia Colesborough—a hopeless, respectful passion — she didn't even know he was there half the time."

'I can imagine that' What was this man Danvers like?"

"A bit of an outsider, I thought — the I'll-tell-the-world-I-did-it touch. He seemed to go down very well with Mrs. Wessex-Gardner."

"Yes," said Montagu Lushington—"an old friend. At least so I gathered."

"What—he was at Wellings?"

Lushington shook his head. "Not quite. He was expected, but he didn't turn up—at least not on the crucial Saturday. I believe he came over on the Sunday afternoon, but Maud and I had motored over to Hindon, so we did not see him. I wish now that we had, because it comes to this — any one of these people could have put that envelope in your pocket."

Algy thought for a moment. "I suppose they could—" he said.

* * *

Algy had plenty to think about all day. Monty had been very decent. "Stick to your job, and stick to your ordinary way of life. Go about and show yourself. Behave as if the whole thing was too ridiculous to be answered. That's my advice to you both as a member of my family and as a member of my staff." It was good advice too, and it fell in with Algy's mood, which was a fighting one. All the same it was easier said than done. Carstairs, always remote, now hardly appeared to be aware of him at all. Communications reached him by way of Brewster, and Brewster, nervously correct, made things worse by a hint of embarrassment and a tinge of apology. Not a nice day at all.

TRADERS WARY AS SANTA FE SHARES CRACK

Sellers Bear Down on Stock as Company Delays Action on Interest Payment.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK — A resounding crack in Santa Fe shares today made traders in the stock market wary and prices sagged after starting mostly higher.

Sellers bore down on Santa Fe on the overnight announcement the railroad, for the first time since it was reorganized in 1896, would delay action on an interest payment.

Washington reports of administration determination to push spending as a business aid kept inflation-minded traders on the alert.

Rail bonds also were shaken by liquidation in Santa Fe loans. Major commodities marked out a narrow course.

Without any important noticeable changes on the business front, financial quarters watched Washington efforts to evolve a new spending program for hints on the industrial trend.

"Iron Age," in its weekly trade review, said the spending and lending proposals at the capital had "raised the hopes of the steel industry that improvement in business will come later in this quarter but the near-term outlook is clouded by indications that point downward."

ANNA LOSES IN SUPREME COURT

State Tribunal Orders Death for Mrs. Hahn; U. S. Jurists, Davey Only Hopes Left.

Then she broke into uncontrolled weeping, reported a guard who said that her sobs could be heard throughout death row.

It was not a written opinion, the appeal being made on a motion for new trial. The first district appellate court previously had upheld the jury's verdict.

Hints at New Plea.

Hiram C. Bolsinger, jr., Mrs. Hahn's counsel, had declared that if the Ohio supreme court refused the woman a new trial the case would be carried to the United States supreme court.

Mrs. Hahn's attorneys also may ask the state court to rehear the case and also would be required to seek the Ohio tribunal's permission to carry the appeal to the highest federal court.

If Mrs. Hahn loses her legal fight to escape being the first woman to die in Ohio's electric chair, she could appeal to Gov. Martin L. Davey for commutation of her sentence to life imprisonment.

Governor Davey has stated on several occasions, however, that he was not inclined to interfere with the judgment of the courts in criminal cases.

In demanding a new trial for Mrs. Hahn, Attorney Joseph H. Hoodin contended before appellate courts that she was, in effect, tried for the death of four men. He asserted that the prosecution was guilty of misconduct.

Outcalt, opposing the new trial, declared that the deaths were a "series of events mutually dependent."

Attorney to File Parole Board Plea.

CINCINNATI—(AP)—Joseph H. Hoodin, counsel for Mrs. Anna Marie Hahn convicted Cincinnati poison-slayer, said today he would prepare immediately a petition to the state parole board seeking to have the woman's sentence of death in the electric chair commuted to life imprisonment.

The parole board, Hoodin said, has only the power to recommend such a commutation to the governor.

Should the board not act favorably, Hoodin declared he would take the question directly before Gov. Martin L. Davey, and failing in that, would appeal to the U. S. supreme court.

Hoodin declared the Ohio supreme court action in dismissing Mrs. Hahn's appeal was "a matter of great regret," but said his client probably would accept it with the same stoicism that marked her month-long trial ending in conviction last November.

"Mrs. Hahn is 'taking it' with fortitude," Hoodin added. I saw her about a week ago, and in her own words she says she is 'innocent but come what may I'll have to take it'."

STEP-DAD HITS JACKIE'S SUIT

'Money Belongs To Us, He Won't Get a Cent,' Says Bernstein.

LOS ANGELES—(AP)—Brewery owner Arthur L. Bernstein says his stepson, Jackie Coogan "isn't going to get a penny" of the fortune Coogan amassed as a child movie actor.

Coogan estimating $1,000,000 is due him from his mother, has sued her and Bernstein for that amount. The case reaches court next Wednesday.

"The law is on our side," Bernstein said. "Jackie Coogan will get not a cent of income from his past earnings. Lawyers tell his mother and me that every dollar a kid earns before he is 21 years old belongs to his parents."

JEWISH FEAST OPENS FRIDAY

Passover to Be Observed at Temple Emmanuel With Five Services.

The Passover or the Feast of Emancipation which Jews throughout the world will observe beginning Friday, will be commemorated with five services at Temple Emmanuel, 132 West Second street.

The first of the services will be held at 7:30 p. m. Friday followed at 8 p. m. by the Seder. There will be two services Saturday, one at 7:30 a. m. and one at 7 p. m., with the final service at 8 a. m. Sunday. Services will be in charge of Rabbi David Rub of the temple.

In ushering in the feast of Passover, the Jewish people will reaffirm the ideal of religious freedom, by retelling the story of the deliverance of the children of Israel from Egyptian oppression.

The observance of the holiday begins with a ceremony which has a longer continuous history than any other religious rite still practiced. This is the traditional Seder, a home service, a festal meal at which the story of the Exodus is told and a service of thanksgiving and hope is read from a special prayer book called the Haggadah.

The Seder is preeminently a family celebration, but in recent years the second night of the holiday has come to be the occasion for community gatherings. The Passover is observed for one week by Reform Jews and for eight days by Orthodox Jews.

Veteran Grocer

J. C. Arbaugh, above, who is associated with his two sons in the Arbaugh grocery, will celebrate his 73rd birthday anniversary Saturday. One of the oldest grocers in the city, Arbaugh started in the days when groceries covered every thing from oil calico to kerosene. He has not forgotten the days when turnips and cabbage were the only fresh vegetables throughout the winter, for they provide an interesting contrast to the "frosted" fruits and vegetables handled by his store today that remain green and fresh throughout the year.

The Fellowship of Prayer

Daily Lenten Devotion

By DR. WILLARD L. SPERRY

Wednesday, April 13. "Have thou nothing to do with that just man." Read Matthew 27:19-25.

This was admirable counsel which Pilate had from his wife. The only trouble was that it was not practicable. Pilate tried to follow it, thought he had followed it. But history has judged otherwise.

In the modern world, where rival states clamor for allies, we see great nations trying to walk the tight-rope of neutrality,—a difficult feat.

However this may be in affairs of state, it is certainly true of moral and spiritual issues. To do nothing positive in their behalf is to fall from the tightrope into the camp of the adversaries. William James used to describe certain of the choices of life as forced, major options. The Christian religion is such an option. Its nature, whether as a body of belief or as a rule for conduct, is such that, once we know of it, we cannot have nothing to do with it. Life might be much more comfortable were this so. But having read the story of Jesus, and his words spoken to us, we cannot go on in an increasingly impossible neutrality. We know only too well that we cannot permanently put off our Christian decisions. In the end they have to be made.

Prayer: Grant us, O God, deliverance from weak delay in the things of the spirit, and the strength so to choose that we may abide, and abide content, by our choices: through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

Without Calomel—And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

The liver should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You get constipated. Your whole system is poisoned and you feel sour, sunk and the world looks punk.

A mere bowel movement doesn't get at the cause. It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." Harmless, gentle, yet amazing in making bile flow freely. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name. 25c. Stubbornly refuse anything else.

GOLF CLUB ASKS FOR RECEIVER

Officers of Possum Run, Inc., File Bankruptcy Petition in Federal Court.

A petition seeking voluntary bankruptcy for the Possum Run Golf Club, Inc., former lessee of Possum Run golf course, was filed in Federal court at Cleveland yesterday.

The petition states that former officers of the club had declared it insolvent and by resolution had ordered the bankruptcy action, and asked for the appointment of a receiver

The new officers of the club named in order to take the action are Al Strachan, former manager of the club, president; Mrs Mary Schaller, vice president; Mrs. Al Strachan, secretary, and Atty. Henry P. Huston, treasurer.

The action follows a suit filed in municipal court two weeks ago against the club by Mrs. Eva Swisher, 159½ South Main street, owner of the course property, to collect $625 due her on the lease of the property.

The court also ruled in favor of Mrs. Swisher in attaching the property of the club which includes various equipment, furniture and fixtures appraised at $1,924.

In the meantime Walter J. McGee, 124 Marion avenue, has leased the 160 acres comprising the course property, off South Main street road one of the two public golf courses in the vicinity of Mansfield.

CROP LOANS FOR FARMERS READY

Farm Bureau Says Federal Funds Are Available Again.

Emergency crop loans for Richland county farmers were available today at the offices of the county farm bureau, Vance Clever, manager, announced.

The loans, which are made to farmers who are unable to obtain credit from other sources, provide for the purchase of seed and fertilizer for 1938 crops. A first lien on crops is taken as security on the loans which are payable next Oct 31. Loans bear a four per cent interest rate.

Clever said it requires at least 10 days to investigate applications for loans to determine whether applicants can comply with requirements set up by the Federal Farm Credit administration.

LIGHTS CHANGED

City Converts Subway Traffic Signals Into 3-Bulb Type.

Four two-bulb lights that have regulated traffic at the intersection of routes 30 and 42 at the subway on Park avenue east since last December, have been converted into three-bulb signals, Service-Safety Director Tracy C. Styert said today.

Installation of the additional bulbs, started last week, was completed yesterday by City Electrician Ernest Adams.

The new sections were added to the lights at the cost of approximately $100. Styert said he ordered the change to make the city's traffic light system uniform and after he received numerous complaints that motorists were driving through the old signals because they did not understand the method of operation.

The two-bulb signals were installed last Dec. 6 at a cost of $600.

BACK IN PRISON

Man Freed by County, Fugitive From Indiana Institution.

After serving a term in the Richland county jail for shoplifting, Ray Bell, 44, of Mt. Vernon was released yesterday to Indiana authorities who had sought him since his escape last Nov. 13 from the state prison farm at Pendleton

Bel was returned to Indiana by John F. Danahey, agent for the state prison farm, who presented extradition papers signed by Gov. Martin L. Davey.

He was sentenced in municipal court here on Feb. 14 to 30 days in jail and fined $50 for taking gloves from a local store. He served out the fine.

Known under such aliases as Ray Patterson, James Ryan and James Ray, Bell was serving a six months sentence in Indiana for intoxication.

HELP STOMACH DIGEST FOOD
Without Laxatives—and You'll Eat Everything from Soup to Nuts

The stomach should digest two pounds of food daily. When you eat hasty, greasy, gaseous or rich foods or when you are nervous, hurried or chew poorly—your stomach pours out too much fluid. Your food doesn't digest and you have gas heartburn, nausea, pain or sour stomach. You feel sour, sick and upset all over.

Doctors say never take a laxative for stomach pain. It is dangerous and foolish. It takes those little black tablets called Bell ans for Indigestion to make the excess stomach fluids harmless, relieve distress in 5 minutes and put you back on your feet. Relief is so quick it is amazing and one 25c package proves it. Ask for Bell-ans for Indigestion.

PLUM COBBLER HIGHLIGHT AT FOOD SESSION

It's One of Many 'New Dishes' Demonstrated by Lecturer at Cooking School.

Hundreds of homes in Mansfield are being treated to "new dishes" this week as the result of the News-Journal cooking school at the Ohio theater, and don't be surprised if a luscious blue plum cobbler is planted before you at dinner this evening.

Miss Ruth Chambers, lecturer, food expert and director of the school, is introducing new ways of "fixing" meat which is interesting hundreds of housewives. Each day's recipes include meat dishes, pastries and supplementary dishes.

Tomorrow she will demonstrate how to prepare the following tempting dishes:

CUSHION PORK SHOULDER ROAST

Have the meat retailer prepare a roast, cushion style, from fresh, skinned picnic shoulder from which the hock has been removed. The pocket is made by boning from the side. Wipe the meat with a damp cloth. Season, inside and out, with salt and pepper. Fill the pocket with the apple sauce dressing. Sew or skewer the opening. Roast in an uncovered pan, without water, in a moderate oven (350 degrees F), allowing 35-40 minutes to the pound.

Apple Sauce Dressing.

1 cup apple sauce
1 cup cracker crumbs
1 cup bread crumbs
¼ cup melted butter
1 egg
½ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper

Combine all ingredients.

BISCUIT RING

3 cups Homemade Biscuit Mixture
2 eggs
1-1¼ cups milk

Combine all ingredients and mix thoroughly but do not beat. Pour into a well buttered ring mold and bake in a hot oven (425 degrees F.) 30 minutes. Loosen edges with spatula and turn onto a round platter. Fill center with creamed meat and vegetables. Serves 6.

Creamed Meat and Vegetables.

3 tablespoons butter
6 tablespoons flour
3 cups milk
Salt and pepper
1½ cups leftover meat
1 cup cooked peas

Melt butter, add flour and mix to smooth paste. Add the milk slowly, preferably hot, stirring constantly until thick and smooth. Season to taste. Add cooked diced meat and peas.

PINEAPPLE ANGEL PIE

1¼ cups pie mix
1-3 tablespoons ice water

Add water to pie mix, small amount at a time, mixing quickly and evenly through the flour and lard until the dough just holds in a ball. Roll on slightly floured board, line pie pan and bake in hot oven (425 degrees F) for 15 minutes.

Filling.

1 cup chopped pineapple
1 cup pineapple juice or water
1 cup sugar
6 tablespoons cornstarch
½ cup cold water
3 egg whites
¼ teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons sugar
½ pint whipping cream
Pecans and marschino cherries

Combine pineapple, pineapple juice and sugar and bring to a boil. Add the cornstarch which has been mixed with the cold water and cook until very thick and clear, stirring constantly. Cool. Beat egg whites with salt until creamy. Add sugar and fold into pineapple mixture. Pour into baked cooled pie shell. Cover with whipped cream. Use nuts and cherries as a garnish. Serves 6.

BROILED BEEF PATTIES WITH BACON

1½ pounds beef chuck or neck
1½ teaspoons salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
3 tablespoons grated onion

Put meat through food grinder twice, with the natural fat left on the lean. If there is no fat, ask the meat retailer to add a small amount of suet. Mix thoroughly with the seasonings and shape into patties on broiler rack allowing three inches between the surface of the meat and the source of heat; when brown turn and finish broiling. Only one turning is required. Bacon slices may be placed on broiler rack when the patties are turned. Serves 6.

LAMB RIBLETS AND GREEN BEANS

5 pounds lamb riblets
Salt and pepper
3 tablespoons lard
1½ cups water
6 small onions
8-10 medium sized carrots
2 pounds fresh green beans or
1 can whole green beans
4 tablespoon vinegar

Lamb riblets are made by slicing between the ribs of a breast of lamb. Brown lamb riblets which have been seasoned with salt and pepper in hot lard. Add water, cover and simmer for 30 minutes. Add onions, carrots and beans, and continue cooking 45 minutes or until vegetables are tender. Add vinegar last 15 minutes of cooking. If canned beans are used allow 15 minutes for heating. Place ribs in center of large platter and arrange vegetables around the outside. Serves 6.

WASH DAY DINNER

4 pounds Country Style Back Bones
4 medium sweet potatoes
4 medium apples
Salt and pepper

Wipe the meat with a damp cloth. Parboil the potatoes. Core and slice the apples without removing the peelings. Alternate layers of potatoes, apples and meat in a covered baking dish. Season each layer. Add enough water to cover the bottom of the pan. Cover. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F) for 1½ hours. Serves 6.

HUNGARIAN GOULASH WITH BREAD DUMPLINGS

2 pounds beef chuck or neck
3 slices bacon
2 medium onions
1½ cups water
Salt and pepper
2 whole cloves
2 peppercorns
½ bay leaf
2 tablespoons catsup
2 tablespoons vinegar

Wipe the meat with a damp cloth and cut into 2-inch cubes. Dice the bacon and brown, adding the chopped onion during browning. Add the meat and brown well. Add water and seasonings. Cook slowly about 1½ hours. Serve with bread dumplings.

Bread Dumplings.

12 slices bread
Milk
1 medium onion
3 tablespoons chopped parsley
2 tablespoons bacon dripplings
2 eggs
Dry bread crumbs
Salt and pepper

Dice bread finely and soak in a little milk. Squeeze out excess milk. Brown the onion and parsley in the fat, adding the bread. Add eggs. If mixture is too moist, add extra crumbs. Season with salt and pepper and shape into balls. Arrange in buttered pan and set over goulash to steam. Serves 6.

"We are using gas as the cooking fuel at The Mansfield News-Journal Food Fashion Revue. I'm enthusiastic about the many features of the new gas ranges and thoroughly sold on the advantages of gas for cooking. You just can't beat it."

Miss Ruth Chambers
Cooking School Lecturer

Gas gets the call for cooking schools year after year because of two important reasons. First, gas service and gas appliances are always a step ahead in modern developments. Gas is a modern fuel, keyed to the times in convenience and economy. Second, gas as a kitchen fuel is the overwhelming favorite of American homemakers. It is only natural that the newest and best in cookery should be accomplished by the most modern, and the most popular kitchen fuel.

Now Is The Time To Modernize Your Kitchen—With A

THEATER

ONE of the silent epics that has never died out is "The King of Kings," made years ago by Cecil B. DeMille, and based on the life, death and resurrection of Christ. It will be shown in 100 theaters in the New York City district alone during the Easter weekend. Particularly appropriate for Easter, it has been revived each year and is still considered standard movie fare for this season. It has been put on 16 mm. film for showing in churches, schools and colleges. It is now estimated that it has played to more than six hundred million persons in the 11 years since its release.

Comedy at Ohio.

"Goodbye Broadway" is loaded with the kind of comedy which can be dispensed only by Charles Winninger and Alice Brady. It is a rather "free" adaptation of the James Gleason stage play which centers around two swell troupers, Pat and Molly Malone. They've saved $4,000 in a lifetime and Pat gambles with it when he buys a rickety old hotel in Hamilton, Conn. The old hostelry isn't worth a fourth of that, but a lot of things happen from the time Pat and Molly take over, and the time they walk out of it to go back to Broadway. Tom Brown, Dorothea Kent, Frank Jenks, Jed Prouty and Donald Meek are in the cast. The picture will play the Ohio only two days, Thursday and Friday, as the new show "In Old Chicago," opens there on Saturday.

"Lone Wolf" Again.

Louis Joseph Vance's fascinating crook returns to the screen after an absence of a year, in "The Lone Wolf In Paris," coming to the Madison Thursday for the last half of the week. This smooth operator has been played by a half dozen screen stars, and Francis Lederer of "Autumn Crocus" fame, is the latest one to try it. Determined to go straight, the cleverest thief in all Europe breaks over when he finds a lovely princess from a tiny kingdom hidden in his room. She is seeking to recover three precious crown jewels which her extravagant mother has sold without authority. The jewels are in the possession of traitorous nobles and the Lone Wolf gets them back in his own way. Frances Drake is seen as the princess.

Sisters Blondell.

Joan and Gloria Blondell are two movie sisters who have kept their own names and yet who are seldom confused. There was some confusion of the two once when Joan made the film version of "Three Men On A Horse," because Gloria had won recognition in the stage version of it. They look a great deal alike, are about the same size and Gloria does something of the same kind of roles, although she has not attained the fame of her older sister. Gloria is a featured player in "Accidents Will Happen" at the Majestic, a story based on the accidents racket which was aimed at the insurance companies as victims. The Marx Brothers in "A Day At The Races" is the other feature.

Miss Woodbury Progresses.

Although Joan Woodbury is just beginning to attract notice she has been in a number of pictures in the past three years. She was recruited to the screen from a series of dancing engagements on the coast, and since then has appeared in such pictures as "Anthony Adverse," "There Goes My Girl," "They Gave Him A Gun," "Living on Love" and many others. She plays the leading feminine role opposite Lee Tracy in "Crashing Hollywood," at the Ritz. The second feature on the bill, a re-issue of an old picture, "Hell Divers," gives Wallace Beery one of his greatest roles. Clark Gable and Dorothy Jordan are with Beery.

LARKS AHEAD OF TIME

CORVALLIS, Mont.—(U.P.)—Meadow larks, robins, killdeer and red-winged blackbirds let their imagination get away with them this year as regards the weather. They have already arrived but with the meadows still blanketed with snow, the problem of how to get angle worms for food is going to be a tough one.

Exclusive with Westinghouse, the Meat-Keeper is an all-porcelain, scientifically designed container that holds 10 pounds of meat, directly under the froster, where the meat keeps market-fresh for days longer. Your refrigerator should have the Meat-Keeper because it will help you to save MORE on your food bills. A new Horatio Alger is needed now—to tell people how to win without working.

It's hard for dogs to understand that their "personal liberty" ends at the next-door neighbor's property line.

It may sometime be required of a candidate for high office that he demonstrate ability to run his own business before he is given control of public business.

Tide Turning In China.

THE Chinese at last seem to be making war in the real sense of the word. At Shanghai and Nanking they put up a good fight, but in spite of their numbers were doomed by lack of training and equipment. For nearly nine months they were beaten time after time, and forced back on nearly all fronts, until their resistance seemed about to collapse. Then slowly the tide began to turn.

General Chiang Kai Shek and his martial wife, never giving up, slowly infused their own spirit into the nation. Raw troops were trained and hardened by experience. China slowly learned modern warfare and the need of waging it. Leaders were cheered by the sympathy and moral support of free nations. Supplies began to arrive in adequate quantities for effective resistance. Meanwhile Japanese supplies began to fail, because of over-extended lines and financial difficulties at home. Lately China has been able on some fronts to beat strong invading forces in fair battle, by modern procedure.

The battle of Taierchwang, in western Shantung, appears to have been the biggest success of the Chinese in this war, and by any standard a notable victory. The Japanese army was routed and fled northward, abandoning supplies and artillery. Chinese reports have told of many thousand Japanese slain, the Grand Canal saved, and almost enough rifles, machine guns, field pieces and armored cars captured to equip a whole division of troops.

Meanwhile there have been victories on other fronts. Japanese morale is sinking. Chinese morale rising. No wonder there are great celebrations.

Thinking of Spiritual Things.

OBSERVANCE of Holy week, with large attendance at special church services, tends to concentrate the thoughts of more people on spiritual things than at any other season of the year.

If the same interest in religion, and in what it represents in human life, could be extended through the year as effectively as it is manifested during Holy week, churches and their individual members would quickly become a much more potent factor in community life and in stepping-up the slow progress of civilization.

Whatever adverse criticism of churches and some church members may be justified, it must be recognized that principles involved in religious teaching have been the dominant factor in human advancement from savagery, and that a well-balanced life requires spiritual development as well as physical and mental training.

Functions of government, of law enforcement and of human relationships would be greatly simplified by general observance of the teachings of religion.

For Care of Tubercular Patients.

RECOMMENDATION by Health Commissioner Rehder that a convalescent home for tubercular patients be provided in Richland county is a forward-looking proposal that should be given thought.

While a number of institutions have been established in Ohio with a special view to caring for patients in various stages of tuberculosis, total capacity has been found insufficient to meet needs and difficulties have been encountered in securing prompt admission of patients who should have immediate attention.

Such obligations, after all, rest most directly upon cities and counties in which patients live.

Richland county's elevation offers opportunity for selection of an admirable site for a suitable sanitorium for treatment of at least incipient cases of tuberculosis.

So much progress has already been made in the battle against tuberculosis as to encourage such further advance step as is contemplated in Dr. Rehder's suggestion.

Too Much Unity.

THERE is in Germany today no voluntary unity, but rather a forced uniformity," says Dr. Ernst W Meyer, who recently resigned the secretaryship of the German embassy at Washington because he didn't like Nazi policies.

"Sixty-five million people will never agree continuously on any particular policy. But when they are forced to agree, they give the appearance of agreeing, which leads them to hypocrisy and ruins their character."

This confirms impressions of Germany and at the same time justifies an American policy of free speech and press. Obviously there are millions here whose character is not being ruined by hypocritical conformity.

The Falling Womacks.

CONVICTION of eight members of the Womack family recently by a federal district court in East St. Louis, Ill., turns the spotlight on one of our major rackets. The Womacks were liability claim fraud artists par excellence. Pretending to trip over every conceivable object, they staged falls in streets, department stores, taxis and buses Then they pressed claims for damages against owners or their insurance companies.

The family fell so many times that they became known as the "falling Womacks." According to evidence which put them in the federal penitentiary, they made 59 fake claims and obtained 39 settlements from insurance companies at a cost of thousands of dollars. How much farther their unlawful operations reached, investigators can only guess.

Prosecuting authorities throughout the country are now awakening to the incalculable damage inflicted by this kind of crime, and there is an increasing number of prosecutions of fraudulent claimants.

Keeping Step

—By LESLIE EICHEL

BIG FINANCIAL men are not in opposition to the Roosevelt administration on all things. There is an agreement over the railroads. Weak railroads "must" be run through the wringer. A government subsidy simply would prolong the agony. If the government had refused subsidies (or loans that cannot be repaid) several years ago, the railroad situation would be in a better state now. (So say the big financial men).

Simplification of operating setup is as essential as simplification of financial setup. That means many highly-paid executives may be displaced, They naturally have spread an hitherto effective propaganda against mergers.

One thing is clear—the government does not desire the railroads. It prefers that the re-organization headache be on the brow of private capital, whose predecessors exploited and watered the railroad companies.

READY

Actually, Wall Street already has discounted the reorganization of the principal additional lines that would be affected.

As the Wall Street Journal remarks: "It probably would be more bullish for business and employment to let them (the weak railroads) reorganize rather than to advance more of the taxpayers' money: for then it would be possible for the borderline roads to spend more on property."

Roads on the borderline have spent so little on property recently that they are eating up whatever equity is in them through inefficient operation. It is a noticeable thing that the moment a road goes into receivership, the court in charge instructs the receivers to spend large sums on rehabilitation.

REORGANIZATION DIFFICULT

Simplification of the bankruptcy law as it applies to railroads also is up. Reorganization under 77-B has been virtually impossible so far. One-third of the security holders can prevent any plan from going through.

"Simplification" in this instance may mean ruthless elimination. That would affect large institutions, such as insurance companies, as well as small holders.

The large institutions would not suffer so much as the small holders. Large institutions hold bonds of sound properties as well as unsound properties. The securities of the sound properties would be enhanced by the elimination of unsound properties.

Actually, the sound rail companies have a bright future if the rotten branches are cut away.

HOLDING COMPANIES

Any railroad reform would be useless as long as holding companies, superimposed on one another, can deal in railroads as if they were chips at a gambling table. Thus, future legislation is certain to doom the railroad holding company.

The present battle for control of the Van Sweringen roads, in which men gained control of two billion dollars' worth of property through putting up a few million dollars to seize control of holding companies, is an example.

Security holders in the Chesapeake & Ohio railroad, for example, were at the mercy of the Van Sweringens when, with very little cash of their own, they gained control of this valuable property and milked it in order to build up a pyramid of investments in weak properties. The Van Sweringens are dead. The properties have changed hands twice since then, through the payment of a pittance by speculators—and only the security holders lose in the meantime. Money that should have been plowed back into the property (as well kept as it is) has gone into all sorts of schemes, ranging from a model farm to a department store, and an organization to agitate against investigation of holding companies.

TOO MUCH TO LAWYERS

The senate interstate commerce committee investigation of railroad financing also has brought out that lawyers have been getting tremendous sums in railroad reorganizations.

Ironically, the worst case cited was one in which the first reorganization did not "take," and the railroad had to go through bankruptcy a second time, with additional millions for legal fees At the same time, the railroad was losing thousands of dollars a month because it could not afford to buy new motive power, which would eat up less fuel.

Everyday Poems

—By GEORGE ELLISTON

To the Pioneers.

In rugged independence rests
A beauty, fine and high.
In courage unafraid to live
And unafraid to die.

But do we have it in these days?
Is it forever gone
With those brave patriots of this land
Who struggled up and on?

Who built this country, strong and true?
What can we show today
To match their spirit and their pride,
What have we to display?

TODAY IS—

Wednesday, April 13, the Hindu, Tamil and Burmese New Year Day. Legal holiday in Alabama—Thomas Jefferson's birthday. It's the only State observing the birthday of the author of the Declaration of Independence. This week's zodiac sign: Aires.

UNDERGROUND RAILROAD—1938

Discuss Causes of F. D. R. Setback

—By CHARLES P. STEWART

WASHINGTON — President Roosevelt's defeat on the departmental reorganization bill dates back to his overwhelming victory in 1936.

One hears this expression of opinion from many a New Dealer in Washington—even from legislators who voted for the bill in the house of representatives and the senate.

The argument is that the White House tenant's 1936 triumph was of such proportions as to leave him no place to go but down hill. Some of his best friends are saying that he ought to have been exceedingly careful not to get himself started in that direction. Instead, they regretfully admit that he over-estimated the extent of his mandate. A few crassly charge that his majority made him "too cocky."

I'm not speaking of comment by anti-administrationists, but of the mournful post-mortem verdicts of many loyal New Dealers.

NOT A "DICTATOR" BILL

It is true that the piece of reorganization legislation which the house of representatives virtually killed, by voting to recommit it, conferred nothing like dictatorial powers upon the president.

On the contrary, it had been so thoroughly hashed up by amendments that it no longer meant much of anything.

But initially the scheme contemplated a grant of vastly greater authority to the White House than a lot of the lawmakers (Democrats as well as Republicans and others) thought it ought to have.

When these congressmen came to vote on recommittal of the ultimately emasculated measure, their ballots really indicated that they were sick of the whole thing - and sore at the president, too.

FEW UNDERSTOOD BILL

The administration does, indeed, assert that tremendous pressure was brought to bear upon legislators by selfish interests, writing and telegraphing through home folk who hadn't even read the reorganization bill. Sure the home folk had not read it—certainly not in its amended and re-amended and multipally re-re-amended forms.

But it was obvious that plenty of them (allowing for a few frauds) didn't like it, in a general way.

Back of it was the supreme court reorganization campaign of a few months ago. That wasn't especially popular, either. If there had been a plebiscite on it, what would have been the result? Nobody knows.

Nevertheless, it is probable that neither supreme court nor departmental reorganization would have been as generally popular, throughout the country, as the White House had expected they would be.

SENTIMENT PUZZLING

Maybe President Roosevelt reads national public opinion, as a whole, more accurately than each lawmaker reads public opinion in his own home state or congressional district.

I doubt it, however. How can any president understand sentiment in the 'steenth district of some distant state as well as the representative from there?

We'll learn more about that from the coming primaries and elections.

NOT ALL REACTIONARIES

The New Deal seems to assume that all its opponents are reactionaries.

Well, voting against reorganization in the house of representatives were Robert Crosser (a Tom Johnson single taxer from Cleveland), half a dozen Republican Liberals from here and there, six Progressives from Wisconsin and a couple of Farmer-Laborites.

Was then, the alignment against the supreme court and departmental reorganization bills reactionary?

I wouldn't think so, altogether.

POOR TECHNIQUE!

The reorganization bill, as finally offered, was innocuous enough.

It was an administration measure and its managers, in the hope of getting it through, to "save the administration's face," bungled their job.

It was beaten by parliamentary "tick-tacks."

Otherwise it might have looked like an administration victory.

Due to their clumsiness it appears like an administration defeat.

Poor technique!

Richland county veterans asked for investigation of Soldiers' Relief commission.

Miss Martha Hartman, Park avenue west, was hostess at party for younger set.

Thirty-one friends from Marion surprised G. L. Benson, Wise avenue, on his birthday anniversary.

Paul M. Hellinger was elected president of Company M association at annual banquet.

Mrs. Mary Gilbert, 451 Park avenue west, reported son's bicycle stolen from garage.

Circus Fans Get Into Action.

—By PRESTON GROVER

WASHINGTON — We have just talked to Melvin D. Hildreth, the Washington lawyer-president of the Circus Fans Association, Inc., and our hair is full of tanbark.

The association includes a thousand lawyers, bankers, movie actors and store keepers pledged to work without pay or passes to perpetuate circuses. We can't help it if some of the things they do appear to be a bit bughouse. From a circus point of view they are as valuable as sunny weather.

The organization was started in Washington 13 years ago. Since then the capital has cut its tax on its big circuses from $400 a day to $160. San Antonio has done even better. Circuses used to avoid San Antonio. The city tax was $1,000 a day and city officials demanded oceans of passes.

That Ended That.

THEN Harry Hertzberg, millionaire attorney, a circus fan, took over. He asked the city officials why they should get so many passes, hinting he would make the whole thing public. The officials, in retaliation, threatened to harass circus employes by arresting them for irregular parking or selling peanuts. Hertzberg answered by putting a lawyer and a bondsman in every court on circus day. That ended that.

Governor Allred of Texas also is a member of the association. Once he vetoed a bill that had been enacted to punish circuses because legislators had not gotten all the passes they wanted.

We didn't know that it mattered, but Mr. Hildreth said the society was alarmed at the decadence of the art of carving circus wagons. Circus-wagon carvers are rare.

On the other hand, there is a plethora of American circus performers. A few years ago America had to comb Europe for acts. Now it's the reverse.

Taking a Movie Tip.

THE society is trying to build up individual performers the way the movies build up stars. Probably you should know also that a Mr. Davis of Bridgeport, Conn., a member, is writing a history of circus elephants. He has a hair from every elephant about which he has written.

Circuses, says Mr. Hildreth, are very careful of their reputations. They are proud to boast that they have never needed a censor. Ringling Brothers circus, with 42 railroad cars ablaze with paint, passed through Washington a few days back for the opening in New York.. The car in which the unmarried girl performers travel has no end doors so other performers may not walk through.

Also, said Hildreth, the performers were ablaze with enthusiasm. They predict 1938 will be a boom season, depression or no depression. They expect help from Gargantua, the gorilla.

Incidentally, the society is burned up about the Metropolitan opera. Hildreth says even its most expensive tickets bear no federal tax because the opera is a cultural institution. The fans are lobbying to have circus tickets exempt, too, at least the end seats where mama and papa go with the kiddies. They insist the circus, as viewed from the end seats, is as cultural as the opera.

Listen, World!

The Greatest Trouble on Earth.

—By ELSIE ROBINSON

HOW OFTEN have you said this?—"Why should that person be unhappy? He's never had any real trouble."

But the greatest trouble on earth is never to have had any real trouble.

You don't believe that? You don't believe that trouble is necessary or helpful? You feel that normal lives should be happy lives and that trouble's unnatural, a dreadful penalty or mistake!

You're wrong. Trouble is as normal and necessary as happiness. It may be hard to take, but it is a sort of vitamin for the character, and the man who doesn't have it gets spiritual rickets.

You can prove that for yourself. If trouble is a curse, then untroubled people should be the healthiest, happiest and most hopeful creatures on earth. But are they? Look them over. They are Anything But!

The less trouble the average human has, the more stupid and self-centered he is going to be. Just try and interest him in your personal misfortune! Does he warm with understanding sympathy, and offer you a helping hand? No indeed! He listens with cold indifference or assumes a patronizing expression and tells you how you should have avoided your predicament. Worse yet, he may assure you that he "knows just how you feel, dearie," and proceed to pester your harassed spirit with an endless recital of some pee-wee irritation.

AND, if you really want to start something, try to tell one of these Untroubled Lives that he's lucky. Instantly he will bust into big bleats of self-pity to prove that he is actually the most miserable soul on earth and that Fate has short-changed him.

And it has!

Remember the old verse—"Whom the Lord loveth He chasteneth"?

Whom Life loveth it challengeth!—that's the modern version of that verse.

Trouble is life's challenge to a human soul. It is a challenge to all a man has in him of strength and courage, intelligence and self-control. Trouble is also an invitation . . . an invitation to explore the tall adventures of danger and hardship, the immortal mysteries of pain and grief.

We will never come to the end of those adventures, we will never be able to understand those mysteries, within the little span of our human experience. But, unless we have tried to explore, unless we have tried to understand, we can never know what life is all about.

* * *

THE man who has not known trouble, has not known life.

That man is poor. He may have gold in his pocket but he will have nothing but pink wadding in his brain and heart.

He is also humiliated. He is still in the position of a child, for trouble is a grown-up experience, and the man who has not known trouble has no place with grown-ups. He has been left behind while other men have gone forward into the jungle darkness of a great journey.

Do not envy those who have never known trouble. Pity them!

Brakes on Cupid.

For years the maxim about marrying in haste to repent at leisure has had no validity in many of our states, for it is possible to repent about as rapidly as one has married. There has been no tightening of the laws on divorce, but there has lately been a quite general tendency among the legislatures to make many divorces unnecessary, by attacking the problem at its inception—the hasty marriage.

In 1937, nine more states either prescribed a waiting period between the issuance of the license and the wedding, or extended the period prescribed. And yet 22 states have no provision which puts any impediment of time in the way of those who wish to marry in a hurry. This is unfortunate, for many of these 22 also lack proper restrictions on the marriage of non-residents. Many of the so-called gin weddings are interstate episodes — the elopement from Chicago to liberal Crown Point, Indiana, with one principal or the other or both in an alcoholic coma, being typical. Indiana has moved to outlaw this obviously anti-social proceeding, and this in general is the trend elsewhere.

A few days is not too long to ponder what should be a lifelong commitment.—Detroit News.

How It Started

—By JEAN NEWTON

"Covered with Flowers."

Florida, which abounds in alligators, coast-line, everglades, oranges and fly-up-the-creeks, might have been but was not named after any of these; instead, it was so-called because of the abundance of its flowers which were in riotous bloom on the holiday of its discovery.

When Ponce de Leon, flying the proud flag of Castile in his quest for the Fountain of Youth, first landed on the shores of the Gulf State, it was Easter Sunday in 1513, and the whole country, clothed in nature's gorgeous, exotic raiment, was ablaze with vivid verdure and blossom.

The land was lush with fragrant, bursting bud; shoot and tendril, shrub, bush and sapling, creeper, vine, greensward as well as tree were flaming with foliage the like of which Ponce de Leon had never before envisaged.

The Spanish name for Easter Sunday being Pascua Florida, Feast of Flowers, there was nothing for it but to call the new domain Florida—the Spanish feminine adjective meaning "covered with flowers." It is our oldest state-name.

DAILY BIBLE THOUGHT

Man About Manhattan

—By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—Today's essay concerns one of the newsstands in the crowded, hurrying atmosphere of the Times Square subway station. Like the drugstores and other quickie establishments in New York (quickie lunch, quickie indigestion) the subway stands have long since succumbed to the Hudson Bay trading post complex—that is, they sell everything from gardenias to steel traps. And if you are lucky, you may even find a copy of your favorite newspaper.

Having been disgorged by the Seventh avenue express, and being in no hurry to board the shuttle train, which whisks one in a wink to Grand Central terminal, your correspondent was tarrying idly by the news rack, sneaking a free glance at the late baseball scores, when a chap ambled up and asked for a can-opener.

"Thumb-screw type or old style?" inquired the Factor, being in no sense surprised by this request. . . . "I wouldn't know one from the other," confessed the customer, "what do you recommend?" . . . "Take this one," suggested the man behind the counter. "It'll cost you 25 cents."

HARDLY had this satisfied lad been swallowed up by a BMT train than a nice old lady in a tweed coat hurried up and asked for a bicycle pump. The newsstand boss dived under the counter and came up with just the type she wanted. Another customer asked for—and received—a box of Turkish incense and a Vina Delmar novel.

It was after this rather weird sale that a little girl edged up to the stand and told the man she wanted a "nice doll that says mama when you turn it over."

"Just a moment," replied our magician, digging among some boxes on the floor. He came up with his face wreathed in smiles. "Here we are."

It was a nice doll, dressed in peasant fashion, and it did emit a sort of squawk when turned on its back. But its enunciation wasn't very clear. You couldn't understand a word it said.

"It just won't do," decided the little girl. "It doesn't say Mama and I want a doll that says Mama."

"Let me see it," said the perturbed salesman. For a few minutes he studied the doll closely, turning it over and listening intently to its mechanized gurglings. Suddenly his face lit up. "Ah," he cried triumphantly, "this doll is okay. You just don't understand it. It speaks Italian."

THIS bock beer has a real twister to its tail. For several months there have been excavations on 45th street at Sixth avenue, and the other night a happily goofy mandarin lost track of himself and plunged headlong into one of the openings.

"Murder, thieves, help, earthquake!" shrieked the fellow at the top of his voice. "Help, police, police!"

They hauled him out and dusted him off, insisting volubly that the earth had risen and swallowed him whole. However, when he admitted he had tried out 14 glasses of the new "bock" they shooed him into a cab and told him to get the devil away from there.

STATE CANCELS PAVING ORDER

Mayor Informed Highway Department Won't Be Able to Aid on West Fourth.

could be done by contract with the state.

The mayor pointed out, however, that a part of the resurfacing could be eliminated and part of the job be done with funds that will be available from the gas tax and auto registration fee funds this year.

"The project is worthy of WPA consideration, in that it would provide several months work for those on work relief rolls," Hunter said.

The mayor said that under the present plans, the only WPA labor on the project would be to remove old car rails.

City council three weeks ago authorized Service-Safety Director Tracy C. Styert to negotiate with the state highway department for the improvement and council's street committee curtailed an extensive street program in the belief that West Fourth street would be repaved with financial assistance from the state.

RANKS NEAR TOP IN SENIOR TEST

Mansfield Boy Scores 345 Out of 400 Points; Other Grades Announced.

Scoring 345 points out of a possible 400, William Fishback, a 12-B student at Senior high school, topped 20 other Mansfield seniors and rated among the highest scores in the state in the annual state Senior Scholarship tests held April 2 at the school.

Announcement of grades of Mansfield pupils was made today by W. L. Miller, superintendent of city schools. Papers of students who took the examinations were graded by the state department of education, and the results were reported to city and county superintendents.

The second highest local grade was made by Walter Thompson with a score of 318. Fishback is president of the 12-B class and editor-in-chief of the Hyphonerian, the school newspaper. Thompson is a member of the June graduating class.

Other high ranking students from the school are David Hagelbarger, 313 points, William Long, 304, John Gano, 287 and Robert Tobias, 273.

Lucille Kochheiser, Bellville high school senior, topped 27 other Richland county seniors in the examination with a score of 251 points. Other high marks in the county were Wallace Buker, Bellville, 249; Carl Ridgeway, Springfield township, 244; Cletus M. Huguenard, Lexington, 219; Virginia Maye Au, Madison township, 217; Thelbert Nickolaus, Madison township and Betty Jean Beaber, Lexington, 209 and Evelyn Louise Butler, Madison township, 208.

Nearby county winners were:

Ashland—Thomas S. Crow, Loudonville, first; Robert D. Plice, Ashland, second.

Knox—Sperry Bogardus, Mt. Vernon, first, and Elizabeth Chilcote, Mt. Vernon, second.

Huron—Edward R. Bell, Norwalk, first, and Robert H. Beman, Norwalk, second.

Tests were given in five subjects, social science, science, mathematics, reading and language concepts and English. A score of 80 points was possible in each of the five subjects.

Students were selected to take the tests by superintendents in the county's rural high schools on the basis of scholarship, attitude, and willingness to participate in school activities. Any senior at Mansfield high school in the upper third of his class was eligible to take the examinations.

"With all due respect to the beneficiaries of the several resolutions," Ferguson declared in a statement, "I do not feel that these monthly payments constitute legal, valid claims against the state of Ohio. These payments are nothing more or less than donations or gifts of the taxpayers' money."

WORKS PROGRAM DRAWN FOR U. S.

$2,750,000,000 in Spending Agreed Upon by Roosevelt and Advisors.

uation and the reasons for his new program.

Time has been reserved on the NBC, CBS and Mutual radio chains beginning at 10:30 p. m. (EST).

Preparation of the message and the speech occupied most of Mr. Roosevelt's attention today. There were indications that the message would be one of the most important and far-reaching which the president has dispatched to congress in many months.

The nature of its preparation, climaxed by last night's conference, recreated something of the emergency atmosphere of Mr. Roosevelt's first months in office. Then, as now, he was studying ways to make government billions take the place of private capital in improving business conditions.

Cabinet members who went over the message with the president were Secretaries Hull, Ickes, Wallace and Morgenthau and Postmaster General Farley.

Garner Absent.

Absent were the Democratic congressional leaders, including Vice President Garner, who has been widely reported as looking with disfavor on any renewal of heavy government spending.

While the white-haired, influential Texan remained publicly silent, Mrs. Roosevelt told his press conference yesterday that he and Garner had not had an argument over "pump-priming" or anything else when they met at a legislative conference Monday.

There had been reports that Garner had sharply expressed his dislike of "spending for recovery" plans, creating a coolness between himself and "the boss," as he calls the president.

Mr. Roosevelt said what happened was this:

He had read a published report that Garner had advised him to lay off business a while and, in the cowboy slang of Garner's native Texas, "give the cattle a chance to put on fat."

The president asked Garner if he had seen the article. The vice president replied that of course he had, but that that he had had nothing to do with its preparation.

And that, the president said, was all there was to it.

Staging a Dish-Washing Race

The "dishwashing handicap," a race that is scheduled to be run at the Ohio theater tomorrow morning at the third session of The News-Journal cooking school, will be particularly interesting to those housewives who have nursed a secret—or not so secret—feeling of abuse for years because father could take the evening paper and repair to his favorite chair after the evening meal while mother remained in the kitchen to bathe the dishes. The race will be between the old style of washing dishes by hand and the new method of letting the electric washer do the trick. J. Gilbert Baird, sales promotion manager of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company, will be the starter and judge. Katherine Slusser, left, will use the electric washer, while Ruth Buell, right, will preside at the old-fashioned dishpan. The demonstration was put on the air at Fort Wayne last Thursday night for the first time.

opened. The school gets under way promptly at 9:15.

An interesting phase of today's school was Miss Chambers' recommendation of certain dishes for persons trying to reduce by healthful methods and those trying to add poundage.

Tomorrow's school will be particularly interesting and timely, for she will work with recipes for "streamlined pocketbooks," tasty and attractive dishes made of cheaper meats and other foods.

Another feature will be a "dishwashing handicap" with J. Gilbert Baird of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company as starter and judge. The race will be between two methods of dishwashing, the old and the new, and it's each woman for herself. One will work with the old fashioned dishpan and drying towel, and the other with the 1938 model Westinghouse electric dishwasher. The contest will start in time so that the session will end at the regular time—11 a. m.

Extravagance...

Webster probably has another definition for extravagance—we don't know, we didn't look it up—but EXTRAVAGANCE in furniture, is not buying it good enough!

True ECONOMY and THRIFT belong to those who purchase good furniture when they need furniture at all.

What is good furniture? A dozen merchants might give you as many definitions—nor will we try to tell you without corroboration, even tho Mansfieldites usually believe what we say.

For more than 30 years, we have known only good furniture. We know that you can buy some kinds of furniture with a smaller investment at the outset, but it is EXTRAVAGANCE TO PAY TOO LITTLE. Measure your investment by years of satisfactory service, pride of ownership, comfort, beauty and all the other things that go with quality, good furniture. TURNER LAYS RECESSION AT NEW DEAL DOOR

Compares Program to Farmer Who Whips Horse and Then Holds Back Lines.

Comparing President Roosevelt's help to business to the farmer who "whips his horse and then holds him back with the lines," Edward C. Turner, Columbus, former attorney general of Ohio, blamed the "recession" on public fear of the Roosevelt program in a talk last night before the Richland county John Sherman club and the County Council of Republican Women.

Turner, who is a candidate for the state supreme court, spoke to approximately 125 members of the two G. O. P. organizations at a joint meeting at Moose hall. Donald Ogden, president of the John Sherman club, presided.

Back home after a two-year visit in Russia, Turner said he had planned to talk here on "Government In Soviet Russia," but at the request of the audience changed his topic to "Why I'm Opposed to the New Deal."

Cites Climb In Stocks.

The gain shown by the stock market following the defeat last week of the president's reorganization bill was evidence, Turner said, that the nation is waiting for the administration to stop experimenting with business.

The Roosevelt "planned economy" program, which theoretically would level out the economic hills and valleys, has discouraged young men from starting new business and encouraged trusts and monopolies, he asserted.

"We don't want to see American business put in a strait-jacket by a program that won't work," Turner continued. "It has been proved that someone sitting in Washington can't run business here in Mansfield as well as the business man himself can do it."

He criticized the president for "making a mess of the transportation system" by causing a marked increase in wages as compared with only a slight raise in railroad income, and for his failure to keep his promise of a 25 per cent cut in government operating costs.

The administration's "secret signing of a lot of reciprocal treaties" was sharply criticized as damaging to American industry, since "it brings cheap foreign products into this country to compete with our goods."

"If we continue to buy foreign goods, we will have to reduce our labor standards to those of other countries," he said.

Turner was introduced by Philip Wolfe, former service-safety director. The talk was preceded by a short program of singing and readings in charge of Mrs. Bessie Hughes, chairman of the Republican Women's council, and was followed by a luncheon.

ROGERS MARKS 15TH BIRTHDAY

Jewelry Company Estimates It Has Served 20,000 Since Opening in 1923.

It's not only the Easter season at the Rogers Jewelry company, 25 North Main street, but also anniversary time.

It was 15 years ago this spring that the Rogers company opened its store in Mansfield, in the old Vonhof building. A full page advertisement in The Mansfield News announced the event.

Six years later, on May 10, 1929, having grown apace with Mansfield, the company moved to its present location, needing larger quarters.

M. Ratner, proprietor of the company, who has seen the store grow from one of modest proportions to its present size, credits the store's expansion to the policy he laid down back in 1923 and which the store has followed scrupulously ever since—a policy of strict honesty and service to customers.

Associated with Ratner since the store opened has been Sam V. Fox as manager. The personnel of the store has increased as the business has grown, and there are now 12 persons employed in addition to Ratner and Fox.

Ratner estimated today that in the 15 years the company has been in business here, it has served more than 20,000 customers.

In observance of the store's 15 years in Mansfield, an anniversary sale will be held starting Friday morning.

RAID TO COST FRESHMEN $800

Rush Through Girls' Dorms In Cap Burning Rituals.

EVANSTON, Ill.—(INS)—Northwestern university freshmen dug deep into their pockets today for $800 to pay for the damage done in a raid on girls' dormitories.

Three-hundred men of the class climaxed the annual burning of their green caps by rushing through five dormitories for women, overturning beds, breaking windows, and trampling on clothing.

The freshmen commission announced the damages would be paid through assessment. The university officials plan to meet today to decide on disciplinary action.

French Strikers Return as Daladier Government Acts

20,000 AGREE TO PEACE AT PLANE PLANT

150,000 Others in Walk-outs to Arbitrate as Chamber Shifts Economic Policy.

(By International News Service)

PARIS—Premier Edouard Daladier and his national defense government got off to a flying start today as France's new, moderate regime pressed a vigorous offensive against the nation's weakening general strike movement.

Workers in nationalized industries who have been on strike, including 20,000 striking airplane factory hands, returned to work at noon, as a result of the government's efforts for "social peace."

Disputes in other strike-bound industries, in which 150,000 workers are still idle, are being subjected to arbitration. It is understood a private agreement has been reached by the government and labor leaders whereby the sit-down strikes and walkouts will be ended completely by next Thursday.

Rapid Progress.

Progress in settling the French labor crisis, which many quarters here attribute to a thwarted communist plot, made rapid strides after Daladier won a land-slide victory in the chamber of deputies, where by a vote of 508 to 12 he became the nation's emergency economic and financial dictator.

By this overwhelming vote Daladier and his "national salvation" cabinet were given power to govern the country's economic life by issuing decrees until July.

Every political group in the chamber—from the ultra-conservatives to the communists, who feared to split their alliance with the socialist—voted for the government financial meaure, thus hopping aboard the Daladier bandwagon.

After the vote was completed, the triumphant Daladier who heads a moderate cabinet rose to the rostrum and proclaimed in tones that filled every corner of the hall:

"This is an assertion of the unity of France. It cannot fail to make a deep impression at home and abroad."

Daladier's words were taken as a warning to radicals in France and to Germany and other nations outside this country's borders that France has a government in position to impose its will.

Victory for the bill in the chamber had been assured when the finance committee voted 20 to 0, with 12 absententions, to recommend its passage after making two amendments.

These modifications imposed on Daladier the obligation to try to limit the period during which the government may act by decree until the end of the ordinary session of the chamber, or about a month earlier than July 31, the date mentioned in the bill.

Lawmakers Renew 'Espionage Plot' Inquiry Demands

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON — Congressmen renewed demands today for an investigation of "un-American propaganda" and of alleged espionage in the United States by agents of foreign countries.

Reps. Byron Scott, (D-Calif.), and Samuel Dickstein, (D-NY), both attacked the activities of Nazi organizations in this and the Central American countries.

Scott charged in an address before the house that Germany, Italy and Japan were engaged in extensive espionage in countries adjacent to the Panama Canal, while Dickstein introduced a resolution for an investigation of foreign propaganda in the United States.

Dickstein said that members of the German-American Bunds planned to "celebrate the conquest of Austria" on April 20. Sucvh a celebration, he warned, would "lead to bloodshed" because there is "no room here for foreign ideology."

Japanese fishermen, Scott said, are photographing all defenses and sounding the waters off the Panama Canal to find mines.

Up and Down THE STREET

Originality marks the announcements McVey post, American Legion, sent out today for its April 20 meeting. On a large sheet of white paper, there is a tiny American Legion insignia and under it a paragraph of small print which says: "If your eyesight is good enough to read this print, it is certain you will not wish to miss the program of the American Legion next Wednesday, April 20, put on by the Forty and Eight." The entire emblem and paragraph occupy little more than a square inch, while the rest of the paper is unmarked.

Atty. Francis R. O'Brien, who was re-elected president of the Junior Association of Commerce last night, had acquired the title of "Il Duce" today, but his friends used it for what it didn't indicate and in a vein of sarcasm. It grew out of O'Brien's alleged attempt to "fix" last night's election so he wouldn't be re-elected. "It was just like a Hitler election in Austria, except that the boys double-crossed me and did the exact opposite of what I wanted them to do," O'Brien explained.

STATE AIDS IN DAIRY SURVEY

Health Officers Half Through With Check of 250 County Milk Plants, Farms.

With approximately 50 per cent of their survey completed in the enforcement of the United States Public Health Service milk ordinance, sanitation officers had the assistance of the state department of health today in their inspection of 250 dairy farms and milk plants in the Mansfield district.

Dr. Roy C. Rehder, city-county health commissioner, said that A. J. Dotter of the sanitation division of the state department of health was in Mansfield to assist in the inspection of the city's milk supply.

Dr. Rehder said the inspection lagged last week due to the inclement weather and that assistance had been sought to complete the survey by the end of this week if possible.

When the inspections are completed, all milk sold in the city will be required to bear a bottle cap showing the quality of the product. The use of the caps will become mandatory 30 days following the announcement of the milk grades. Only grade "A" raw milk and grades "A" and "B" pasteurized milk may then be sold to the final consumer under the health board regulations.

Strict enforcement of the ordinance was ordered last fall after the health board had tabled a measure that would have permitted only pasteurized milk products to be sold in the city.

SIX TALENT QUEST WINNERS IN STATE APPEAR HERE TOMORROW

The talent quest revue comprised of winners from six Ohio theaters will be presented at the Ohio theater Thursday night between the first and second shows.

The talent quest, sponsored by National Broadcasting company, Warner Brothers and newspapers, —The News-Journal in the Mansfield district—was launched four weeks ago in six theaters in Northern Ohio and one winning act was selected in each district after three weeks of elimination contests.

Winners from the other five theaters who make up the revue that is now on tour of the theaters and which will appear at the Ohio tomorrow night are Bill Sneltz, accordian player, from the Cleveland Uptown theater; Robert Cooper, baritone, from Cleveland Variety; Amil LeLenko and Billie E. Glenn, comedy act, Warner theater, Youngstown; Davis and Craig, novelty musical act, Sixth Street theater, Coshocton; and Neal Gilbert and Herman Hess, Palace theater, Lorain.

District winners were chosen by the audiences, but the final winners, one act only, will be chosen at the Variety theater in Cleveland, Saturday night by two representatives each from Radio City and Warner Brothers eastern studio, New York City.

The winning act will be taken to New York City for screen and radio tests.

2 YOUTHS HELD

Columbus Boys and Stolen Car Seized by Patrolmen.

Two Columbus boys who were apprehended near Loudonville Tuesday evening with a stolen automobile, were being held in city jail here today for Columbus authorities.

The two youths were taken into custody on route 3, five miles south of Loudonville at about 5 p. m. Tuesday by Corporal Scott B. Radcliffe and Patrolman A. E. Mercer of the State Highway Patrol, after a report of the theft of the car had been broadcast over the patrol radio system.

The boys told officers that they were on their way to school when they saw the car and decided to take a ride. They were returning to Columbus when accosted by the patrolmen.

The youths told Corporal Radcliffe that they had driven to Marysville, Marion, Mansfield, Wooster and Akron. Columbus authorities were expected here today to return the boys.

FLAYS POLITICS IN STORM OVER FIRM'S 'FEES'

County Dem Chairman Says Davey 'Uninformed' as to Cost of Deliveries.

(By Associated Press)

COLUMBUS—John F. Nolan of Steubenville, director and an incorporator of Shaw Transport, Inc., asserted today that he "especially resented" any attempt to make its liquor hauling contract with the state "a political football for campaign purposes."

The Jefferson county Democratic chairman added that recent speeches by Gov. Martin L. Davey had convinced him that "the governor is uninformed with reference to the cost of transporting liquor in Ohio." The governor recently advised James W. Miller, state liquor director, to require distillers to transport their own liquor to state stores and agencies.

Davey said in several recent speeches that there seemed to be "quite a fat profit" in the difference between Shaw Transport's 17-cent liquor hauling contract price and the 11½ cents a case it allowed under a sub-contract. The Shaw company owns no hauling equipment.

Says Cost Lower.

Nolan, in his first comment on the liquor hauling controversy, which was stirred up by the senate investigating committee, contended that transportation costs in Ohio were lower than in 90 per cent of the other liquor monopoly states.

As the result of testimony before the recent senate graft-hunting committee, Mrs. Agnes B. Dickinson, Columbus attorney, filed a taxpayer's suit to dissolve the Shaw firm's contract and demand judgment of $350,000 for alleged overcharges.

"It is true," Nolan said, "that Shaw was able to make a favorable contract. It is further true that U. S. Lines, to whom this contract was sublet, has since cancelled their contract due to heavy losses."

Nolan asserted that "not a word was uttered" about an earlier liquor department contract with U. S. Lines for hauling liquor at 18 cents a case.

"Strangely enough when Shaw undertook to handle this same trucking under precisely the same conditions for 17 cents per case, the politicians complained to 'high heaven'."

The commissioners also accepted bids for coal tar base products in order to establish prices if the materials are needed later. The bids were $1 22 per gallon for various mixtures.

FAIR ENOUGH!

Pegler Insists Mooney's Personality and Beliefs Belong In Story On Him

—By WESTBROOK PEGLER

NEW YORK—Just to keep the record straight, I want to nail the implication contained in an editorial in the San Francisco Daily News that I argued that Tom Mooney's personality and his political views should be weighed against him in the consideration of his demand for a pardon. I wrote nothing of the kind, and I insist, with the News, that neither his egotism nor his devotion to a political system which certainly would jail (and probably kill) a man for holding and agitating hostile political views may be considered in this case.

Moreover, I wrote that in refusing to pardon a man whose guilt for years has been clouded by doubt merely because he is politically disagreeable California has descended to the level of Mooney's spiritual home, which certainly is Moscow.

I still insist that if Mooney were sincere and consistent, far from objecting to a course of treatment which conforms with the Russian practice which he so fervently admires, he should rejoice that in one individual case, at least, California had seen the light. He should even go so far as to regret that instead of executing him for his political beliefs and advocacy, as would have happened in parallel circumstances in Russia, California choked up and sent him to prison instead.

Nor do I agree that a story about Tom Mooney, based on a personal interview, should avoid giving an impression of his personality and of the views which he expressed. For a mere discussion of the history of his case it is not necessary to see Tom Mooney at all.

When a reporter goes to visit a celebrity he is expected to give an impression of the man, and in Mooney's case it certainly was of interest to note that he is as egotistical as an actor, that he expressed no human sympathy for the 5,000 other prisoners in San Quentin with the exception of a labor dynamiter, and that not once, of his own initiative, did he mention Warren Billings. I stand corrected on the point that Billings was not technically a co-defendant, but the correction is only technical. They were charged with the same job, and Billings is no less persecuted than Mooney.

I refrained from quoting Mooney on the subject of his fellow prisoners and still do for the sake of his own peace. But the only sympathy that he could spare for anyone but himself was expressed for Jim McNamara, the convicted dynamiter of the Los Angeles Times, and another prisoner in the Times case of whose name I am not positive, not remembering the details of that slaughter and the ensuing prosecutions.

My story was not court testimony and was not restricted by the rules of evidence and pertinence, and it undoubtedly is a matter of interest to the reader that this man who rails at California for political persecution frankly admires a form of government which not only practices political persecution but avows it.

It is argued that political dissenters in Russia are not punished for their dissenting beliefs but for political activities in the furtherance of those beliefs. But that merely argues that in Russia dissenting beliefs must be kept secret because expression of them would constitute political activity. Mooney's personality and political beliefs are important elements of the story of Mooney the person, and they have been ignored for fear that they would wrongly be held against him by the courts and the public. If the courts and the democracy of the people are no better than that, that is too bad, but his personality and beliefs remain what they are, nevertheless.

As for the neglect of Warren Billings and the glorification of Tom Mooney, I call attention to the fact that the "Free Tom Mooney," movement is an industry with international connections, whereas there is no "Free Warren Billings" movement at all. It is understood that if Mooney goes free Billings does, too. They have suffered equally and yet Billings is a forgotten man. The reason is to be found in Mooney's love of publicity and his human vanity and in the organization which shares his political beliefs.

Politically and intellectually Mooney runs with those who would destroy the American form of government by force and violence, and if he himself plainly indicates this, why is it wrong to communicate his position to the public to which he appeals?

Hollywood Speaks—

By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—Let's drop in casually on the stars today, buttonhole them at their work and see what they have to say. It's easy, those people having a lot of time on their hands.

Especially at Universal. There's a place to soothe the nerves. You think. It used to be. Time was when, except when Deanna Durbin was working, you could go there, and hear little but soothing, restful, if not very exciting. Well, Universal it is. Let's go.

We'll drop in first on Charlie McCarthy, wroking on "A Letter of Introduction." Charlie's busy. He's sliding down a banister to be caught by a blond chap at the bottom. Chap's name, somebody says, is Bergen. Face is familiar but we can't place the name. Every time Charlie says anything this fellow stands there and agitates his throat, as if he were trying hard to swallow something and can't. Charlie says, "Don't look now, Bergen, but I think I picked up a splinter."

* * *

Let's try Andrea Leeds. Wait a minute, Miss. "Oh, I'm so sorry—I have to be tested for hats now. But please come along." We go. Charlie is through now, gone to his dressing room. Bergen's disappeared. Andrea sits before the camera, tries on a hat, and we sit out of range trying to talk. But they keep moving things between and around us. Big lamps, beams, shades. Andrea's telling us how lucky she is, what with the nice critics, nice directors, nice roles she's had, when a big camera boom swings around and starts bearing down on us. Not being so lucky ourselves, we grab our hats.

Ah, Danielle Darrieux! There's a girl for us, "The Rage of Paris." Maybe she'll tell us how she set them raging enough to bring in $4,000 a week to lay at her pretty feet.

But Dan-yell Dare-you (as they call her) is in bed. You've no idea how many workers its takes to bed down $4,000-a-week's-worth of movie beauty. The bed's in a corner of the set, and there are enough workers around to cover what view the camera isn't hiding. We get a glimpse at last, between two working shoulders. They finally have her lighted as desired. She's a beauty, and those eyes—! At last they're taking the scene. Danielle's voice: "I must tell you something. I am not a bad girl—" Very nice voice, with some accent.

What's this, an actor? As we live, so it is—Doug Fairbanks, jr.

Says he's doing a little writing, as usual, some under his own name. But won't give in on his pen-name—why have one if you let it out? says he.

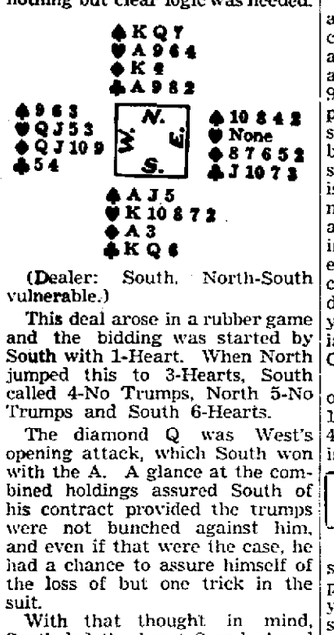
NO PEEK NECESSARY

Many fair players cannot understand either the card reading or the safety plays of the real experts. Some of the stars' antics seem so uncanny to them, even after they are explained, that they can't accept the truth. They feel that their opponent must have taken a peek at their hands, whereas nothing but clear logic was needed.



(Dealer: South. North-South vulnerable.)

This deal arose in a rubber game and the bidding was started by South with 1-Heart. When North jumped this to 3-Hearts, South called 4-No Trumps, North 5-No Trumps and South 6-Hearts.

The diamond Q was West's opening attack, which South won with the A. A glance at the combined holdings assured South of his contract provided the trumps were not bunched against him, and even if that were the case, he had a chance to assure himself of the loss of but one trick in the suit.

With that thought in mind, South led the heart 2 and played the 6 from dummy. The heart 4 was led to the K, and a third round was won with the A. One heart trick had to be given up to West, but that was the only trick claimed by the opponents.

East, only a fair player, suggested that the declarer would have had to see her hand to have tried such a finesse as that of the six spot. However, declarer was able to point out that, as he expected to lose one trick, that card would have served the purpose.

Tomorrow's Problem.

(Dealer: South. Neither side vulnerable.)

After a pass by South and an opening bid of 1-Heart by West, how should the bidding proceed?

How Can Girl Get Rid of Boy Friend?

By VIRGINIA LEE

PUZZLED is a very sweet girl 17 years old. She is going with a boy who is very much in love with her. Her parents think the world of this boy, but she thinks they wouldn't like him so well if they knew he was trying to "steal" their daughter.

Puzzled's trouble is that she does not love the man as he loves her. She does not care for men, she says, and her life dream is to be a missionary some day. She loves her parents very much and they adore her. How can she get rid of this boy without hurting him so much that he will take his own life. He has had a hard time, never had a home, and she doesn't want to hurt him too badly. At the same time she is sure she never will want to marry him. She has heard that he once tried to take his life, and that makes her afraid to make him suffer, you see.

Maybe you can make your friend see that it is not manly to give up and die just because he cannot get his own way, Puzzled. You can tell him that probably his motive in taking his own life if you would no longer go with him, would not be that he was tired of life, but that he wanted to be revenged upon you; he would want to make you suffer as he did.

You can promise to be his friend and to help him as much as you can, and to show him that even the loss of something as precious as your love need not make a coward of him.

You may be mistaken in your feeling toward men generally, you know, dear. Even missionaries marry, you know, and a woman often can do better work when she joins forces with a good man whom she loves and who loves her. But that, of course, is all in the future. You will have to make up your mind that as you do not want to continue to go with this man, you will have to tell him soooner or later.

* * *

"DEAR MISS LEE: What are the questions asked when applying for a marriage license?

"TOOTS."

I don't know them all, but they are about your age, nationality, your parents' names, your home town and where you were born, whether there are any inheritable diseases in your families. I really can't tell you the rest. These are enough to give you the general trend so that you can be prepared.

Marriage Meddlers

By ADELE GARRISON

Continuation of "Married Comrades"

Mary gave a quick gasp of sheer excitement as the man on the other side of the partition asked the woman, whose association with Dicky was such an unaccountable mystery to us, if she wouldn't tell him how and when she meant to play her trump card if he would "loosen up and buy a little drink."

I was able to repress a gasp, but I was no less excited than was my husband's lovely young niece. Would the woman be able to resist the bribe so appealing to her, or would her resolution to keep her secret intact go down under this insidious assault? And would we as a consequence, have thrust into our hands the key with which to unlock the trap into which Dicky seemed to have closed around him?

But either her secret resolution was stronger than her love for liquor, or she was simulating more intoxication than was hers. At any rate, her reply to her companion's insinuating query was a mocking laugh.

Suspects His Game.

"So that's your little game, is it?" she sneered. "Think you'll get me soused enough so I'll spill all I know, and you can go ahead and shake down the cherry tree while I go off and twiddle my thumbs in the nearest corner? Why you poor sap! I've played that stale trick more times than you're years old. No, no, little boy, I don't tell you anything except what I choose until I get ready for the rough stuff. That's all I need you for. It's all you know. You'd gum up anything else. Besides, you don't even know what my trump card really is with all your blab about it."

"The hell I don't," the man retorted, not angrily, but as one would assent a fact. "You think I don't know that it's Je—"

The voice went into a sputter, and Mary and I looked at each other in amazed comprehension. That the woman had dashed some liquid into his face, in lieu of the louder process of slapping him, was an easy guess, and the next second proved the accuracy of what Katie would have called our "dee-doock-tion."

"You hell-cat!" he raged, keeping his voice down. "what do you mean by pulling that stuff?"

"I'll grant it's a waste of good liquor," the woman said coolly, and we realized that the crisis had sobered her, "but it was the only way to stop you. I ought to have given you a good stiff wallop, but I was afraid somebody might hear me. Now you listen to me. If you mention that name again, either here or anywhere else until I give you permission, everything is off as far as you're concerned. You don't even get a smell."

"Like hell I don't," the man blustered. "I'm in the thing too deep for you to kick me out. You can't pull the thing without me, and you know it."

"Suppose I decided not to pull it at all, what then?" she asked calmly, but something in her voice told me that this last proposal was "bluff" pure and simple.

It was a "bluff" that succeeded, however. There was a silence during which I visualized the man staring wide-eyed at her.

"You wouldn't be such a d—d fool," he said at last, but there was that in his voice which betrayed that he believed she would be just what he had named.

"Just try me and see," she retorted. "Now, let me tell you, once and for all, just what you're to do if you want to trail along with me on this. If you're not ready to sit in on the deal without welching every other minute, just tell me now, and we'll call the whole deal off."

School Lunches.

More planning goes into the preparation of school children's lunches nowadays. Mothers know more about balanced meals, vitamins, and food values than they once did. Hot lunches prepared and served at school are better for children than the cold lunch brought from home. Or a hot dish to supplement the cold lunch is advisable.

To aid leaders of school lunch projects where funds are limited and equipment must be simple, the United States department of agriculture has prepared menus and recipes. Weekly menus suggested by the home economists follow this general pattern:

First, for the hearty hot dish: Once a week eggs in some form, creamed, scrambled or combined with cheese, rice, or vegetables. On the other days a meat or fish and vegetable chowder or stew; or dried beans or peas in appetizing form or a substantial milk soup.

Twice each week tomatoes come into the menu for their good flavor and color and their high vitamin value.

Milk always is present, as milk to drink and doubling some days as one of the chief ingredients in soup, sauce or hot beverage.

Fruit likewise appears daily as the dessert, now and then plus a cookie. The emphasis, however, is on fruit, whatever is fresh and seasonal.

Silk stockings will wear longer if they are first washed with a mild soap and rinsed in clear water.

Central Press Writer on Beauty.

Warm days are just around the corner, so it's about time to get out the golf clubs and the tennis rackets. Active spring sports will be going strong soon.

Sweaters and skirts are about the most comfortable and smart sport costumes for these first days with a chill still in the air. The sweaters this season are going to be longer, and worn with narrow belts. They look swell, and are really more practical since they won't slip up when you swing your arms. But beware of a fat little tummy. It will show as sure as sure, and the little belt will only accentuate it. So if you want to emerge from the winter with nothing to hide, now is the time to do something about it.

If that's your problem give this exercise a try. It will flatten the stomach and raise the spirits. Lie on your back with your arms at the sides, pull both knees straight back to your chest, kick your legs out in front of your body and raise the hips from the floor, and at the same time come up to a sitting-up posture with your legs extended and your knees straight. Swing your arms forward and see how far you can reach. Then return to your first position and continue. Do this eight times.

Second Exercise.

Next sit Turkish fashion, knees bent, hands on your knees, and legs crossed at the ankles. Pull your abdominal muscles in hard while rounding the back with your head and chest bent forward. Gradually straighten up, rocking slowly back on your buttock muscles, and holding your abdominal muscles in until your head and neck are high and your back straight and shoulders relaxed. Repeat this 12 times.

This is the half-way mark, so rest a few minutes. Then lie flat on your back and pull both knees back to your chest. Clasp your hands around the knees and roll forward to a sitting position, with the back straight and your shoulders and head held high and well back. Slump and roll back again. Five times is enough.

Now for the last heat. Lying flat on your back, extend your arms forward with your hands clasped. Keeping your arms stretched forward, rise to a half sitting-up position, about six to eight inches from the floor. Return to a lying down position. Repeat this three times, then rest and do it six times altogether.

This may seem rather tough going the first few times, but hold out for that flat front. If you stick to it this will certainly do the trick.

The lower crust of a pie will not become soggy if the plate on which it is baked is heated before crust is put on.

CUTICURA SOAP and OINTMENT

Most Women Don't Need Beauty Parlors

Sallow complexions and pimply skins are often not a matter for cosmetics. For most skin blemishes are aggravated by constipation.

Constipation can be a serious handicap. Mental dullness, early fatigue, headaches, sleeplessness, mental depression, loss of appetite, hyper-acidity can all be caused by it.

Keep regular. If more than a day goes by, use Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. This famous laxative is the choice of millions. It does not shock the intestinal system. And in addition, it stimulates the secretion of bile without the discomfort of drastic or irritating drugs. Get Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets at your druggist, 15¢, 30¢ and 60¢.
